58. J. R. Aiken reported for the Committee on Apportionments, and the report was adopted as follows:

Your committee, after having studied as best we could the financial needs of all the different objects which we are fostering, find that they are greater than ever before. Yet, after taking into consideration the strained financial condition of our people, caused by the short crops made this year, which will doubtless affect the contributions for all these objects for months to come, we feel that it would be unwise in planning for advance in the different departments of our work to make the apportionments higher than we can reasonably hope to raise, and therefore recommend:

First. That the following amounts be asked from the churches:

State Missions, including Church Building Fund $40,000.00
(10% of money raised for State Missions to be set aside for Church Building Fund.)
Home Missions 35,000.00
Foreign Missions 52,000.00
Orphanage 30,000.00
Aged Ministers' Relief 9,000.00
Ministerial Education, at Furman University 5,500.00
Current Support, Furman University 8,000.00
Bible Work 2,000.00

Second. That the representatives of these departments of our work call a meeting before this Convention adjourns and apportion these amounts among the Associations, and furnish the Association Boards with a list of these apportionments at the earliest possible moment, as the Associational Boards will meet in a few days for the purpose of apportioning among the churches, and will need these figures before them in doing their work. Respectfully submitted,

J. R. Aiken,
For the Committee.

59. C. A. Smith read the report of the Committee to report on the Report of the Board of Ministerial Education. After remarks by A. C. Wilkins, R. Ford, C. A. Smith, R. B. Watson, W. E. Wilkins, Henry Miller and L. C. Ezell, the report was adopted.

60. J. M. Frost addressed the Convention in behalf of the Baptist Sunday School Board.

61. The following resolutions, offered by W. J. Langston, were adopted:

In view of the fact that there are a few Associations and many churches not in hearty co-operation with the work of the Convention, we deem it wise and timely to take some definite steps to help them.

And while we think it desirable to have an efficient man in every Association for all his time, to do general denominational work, we find the cost would be too great—greater than we are able to bear at this time, and at the same time meet the imperative needs of the pastors who are working at destitute places in the Associations.

Therefore, be it resolved:

1. That the State Convention be requested to authorize the State Mission Board to elect a suitable man whose duty shall be: (1) In general to assist the Secretary and Treasurer in his work at times of special need; (2) specifically: (a) to enlist the sympathy and help of all the churches not now co-operating with the Convention in all its work for Foreign, Home and State Missions, Education and Benevolence; (b) to assist in organizing the Associations for systematic work; (c) to develop them along the lines of organization so far as he may be able in co-operation with the pastors; (d) to secure at first hand all necessary information, of the condition of the churches and Associations, as to their real needs and how to meet them, for the guidance of this Board in its work and appropriations.

2. That the State Board secure, if practicable, the services of the most efficient pastor in each Association where this work of development is being done, for not less than one-fourth of his time, whose duty shall be to co-operate with this Board in the accomplishment of the purposes expressed above.

3. That so far as we can, we co-operate with the Home Board in this work.

4. That copies of these resolutions be sent to the Executive Committees of the Associations needing such help, with the special request that they assist this Board in this important and greatly needed work.

62. Z. T. Cody read the report of the Education Commission and, after remarks by Z. T. Cody, T. H. Posey, G. E. Davis and A. J. Hall, the report was adopted.

63. J. A. Brown read the report of the Committee on Report of Greenville Female College and, after remarks by D. M. Ramsey, J. D. Chapman, Z. T. Cody and J. H. Wharton, the report was adopted.

64. The following resolutions, offered by J. L. Ouzts, were adopted:

Resolved, That we, the South Carolina Baptist State Convention, call upon ten thousand Baptists in the State who will send C. C. Brown, of Sumter, one dollar each as a Christmas offering to the Invested Fund of the Aged Ministers' Relief Board, and that all our pastors are hereby urged to give this call publicity, and to encourage it in their churches.

65. The Secretary read the following message from President E. M. Poteat, in response to the message sent him by the Convention: Crisis successfully passed. Phil. 4:10-14, 19 (R. V.).

66. C. E. Burts reported for the Committee on Time, Place and Preacher for the next Convention and, after remarks by D. M. Ramsey and C. A. Jones, the report was adopted as follows:

Place, Bennettsville, S. C.; Time, Tuesday after the first Sunday in December at 10 o'clock a. m. (as amended); Preacher, S. C. Mitchell, with E. S. Reaves as alternate. Respectfully submitted,

C. E. Burts,
D. T. Smith,
G. B. Buell,
W. E. Thomas,
W. P. Smith.

Lawton, G. L. Knight (in place of C. K. Henderson, resigned); to fill the place of L. M. Roper (out of State), H. L. Bomar.

74. H. M. Fallaw reported for the Committee on the Report of the Baptist Ministers' Mutual Benefit Association, and the report was adopted as follows:

It is with great pleasure that we note the growth of the Baptist Ministers' Mutual Benefit Association, as shown by the Treasurer's report. We are glad to see that the young men are taking hold of the work heartily. We wish to express our appreciation to the faithful members for what they are doing to remove the shadows, to some extent, in the time of death. We desire also to express our appreciation of the faithful officers of the organization. We recommend the re-election of the present officers, namely: T. M. Bailey, Treasurer; C. C. Brown, Secretary. We would urge that every pastor join the Association, and every layman who will.

H. M. Fallaw,
For the Committee.

75. J. H. Thayer reported for the Baptist Historical Committee and, after discussion by W. T. Hundley, J. H. Thayer, T. H. Garrett and Z. T. Cody, the report was adopted as follows:

Your Committee on South Carolina Baptist History beg leave to make the following report: 1. That this committee, appointed at Laurens to report to the Convention at Greenwood, was not a standing committee of the Convention, and hence considered that with the report then made its services ceased. 2. That, since the Convention desires a report from this Committee, we would respectfully ask that the provisions made in the report of 1911 be carried into effect, if the Convention so desires.

76. W. T. Hundley presented the Convention with a copy of the Savannah River Association Minutes, which was sent to the convention by Mrs. J. G. Williams. On motion the volume was recived and ordered kept in the Furman Library. And on motion of W. E. Wilkins the following resolution of thanks was ordered to be sent to Mrs. Williams:

Resolved, That as a Convention we express our appreciation to Mrs. John G. Williams for the gift of the valuable papers containing the records of the Savannah River Association from 1831 to 1862, and that we assure Mrs. Williams that as a part of the Furman University Library the volume will become a permanent and valuable chapter of Baptist history in our State.

77. On motion of Z. T. Cody, the Secretary was requested to send a message of greeting to T. M. Bailey. The Secretary sent the following: The State Baptist Convention sends love and greetings. Phil. 1:2-3.

78. On motion of Z. T. Cody, the following resolution was passed.

Whereas, Prof. H. T. Cook has spent several years in painstaking and gratuitous work in preparing a History of Education in South Carolina under Baptist Auspices, and,

Whereas, That work is now offered to the public in most readable form, be it

Resolved, That this Convention extend to Prof. Cook for this service its hearty thanks, and commend his history most highly to the brethren.

79. J. H. Mitchell reported for the Committee to Nominate Trustees of Greenville Female College, and the report was adopted as follows: To serve until 1917, B. M. Shuman, W. U. Clyburn, J. H. Wharton, W. E. Thomas; in place of W. T. Thompson (resigned), M. D. Jeffries; in place of W. J. Talbert (resigned), W. J. Thackston; in place of J. J. Gentry (resigned), B. E. Geer.

80. E. G. Quattlebaum read the report of the Laymen's Committee. After discussion by W. E. Wilkins, J. T. Henderson, W. R. McMillan, R. B. Watson, F. P. Covington, E. G. Quattlebaum and W. H. Hunt, the report was adopted.

81. F. P. Covington read the report on Temperance, as prepared by John Bomar, and, after remarks by J. W. Quattlebaum, R. B. Watson and J. D. Crain, the report was adopted.

82. A. B. Kennedy offered the following resolution, which were adopted:

Resolved, That a Standing Committee of five be appointed to have charge of the devotional service at the opening of each session of the Convention, in the hope that the service may be conducted in such a way as to honor God and to be a blessing to the members of the Convention.

83. J. R. Aiken offered the following resolutions, which was adopted:

Resolved, First. That this Convention express its confidence in the Anti-Saloon League.

Second, That Louis Bristow and C. E. Burts be requested to represent this Convention on the Board of Trustees of the Anti-Saloon League.

Third, That this Convention place its condemnation on the "Locker Club" system in our State, and pledge our support to our representatives in the Legislature in their efforts to enact a law against such clubs.

Fourth, That we heartily endorse the Sheppard-Kenyon Bill now before Congress to be voted on within the next few days, and urge our representatives in Congress to work for the passage of the same.

Fifth, That the Secretary of this Convention transmit a copy of these resolutions to our representatives in Congress.

84. A. B. Kennedy offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Convention be appointed to investigate the routes and schedules and accommodations offered by the railways, and to arrange for transportation to the Southern Baptist Convention in St. Louis next May.

85. The Convention adjourned with prayer by M. L. Lawson.

Thursday Night Session.

86. The Convention reassembled at 7:30 o'clock with devotional services conducted by G. N. Cowan.

87. D. M. Ramsey offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Order of Business for the next Convention, in conference with the pastor of the entertaining Church, be instructed, if practicable, to secure the services of two eminent brethren outside the State to deliver addresses on the last evening of the Convention, and that their traveling expenses be prorated among the several Boards of the Convention.

88. E. S. Reaves read the report of the Committee on the Report of the Connie Maxwell Orphanage. After addresses by A. T. Jamison, W. C. Allen, Wm. Haynsworth and D. M. Ramsey, the report was adopted.

89. E. V. Baldy read the report of the Committee on Report of the Trustees of Furman University. After addresses by E. V. Baldy, O. O. Fletcher and M. V. McDuffie, the report was adopted.

90. C. E. Burts read a letter from C. K. Henderson, offering his resignation as Trustee of Furman University, and offered the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That this letter of resignation be printed in the Minutes of the Convention; second, That we gratefully recognize Brother Henderson's long, faithful and wise services to Furman University, and would put on record our appreciation of his liberal contributions of time, money and thought from the time he became a member of the Board, twenty-three years ago.

91. G. N. Cowan read the report of the Committee on Report of the Trustees of Anderson College and, after an address by the President of the College, J. A. Chambliss, the report was adopted.

92. F. P. Covington offered the following resolution, which, after remarks by H. A. Willis, was adopted by a rising vote:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be hereby tendered to this Church and the pastor for the thoughtful provision made for the comfort and convenience of the delegates, and for the complete and well conceived arrangements made for carrying on the work of the Convention with facility and system.

Our thanks are due and hereby expressed to the citizens of Abbeville for their generous hospitality. We shall return to our respective homes with abiding memories of the great pleasure experienced during our stay in this beautiful town, and we must always feel grateful for the new acquaintances made and pleasant friendships formed.

93. On motion of C. C. Brown, the Convention reconsidered the report of the Committee on Time and Place. On motion, the time for convening the next Convention was changed from 3 o'clock p. m. to 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

94. Z. T. Cody introduced to the Convention Rev. G. A. Goodwin, of the National Baptist Convention, who made a short address.

95. The President announced the following Standing Committees to report to the next Convention:

REPORTS

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE MISSION BOARD

With gratitude to our Heavenly Father for His mercies and abiding favor to the State Board, we submit the record of another year's labor.

The Board projected its work for the past year on a broader basis than ever before, and therefore employed more missionaries and spent more money in its prosecution. One hundred and sixty persons, thirteen women and one hundred and forty-seven men, were commissioned for all or for a part of their time. The record of their labor, as shown in monthly reports, is as follows:

For the Men—Number of stations, 217. Miles traveled, 261,166. Days engaged, 12,966. Sermons and addresses, 9,921. Prayer meetings, 3,684. Religious visits, 26,847. Conversions, 2,538. Baptisms, 1,708. Received by letter, 1,478. Restored, 172. Total additions to Mission Churches, 3,358. Total membership, 13,042. Churches organized, 12. Churches built, 7. Expended on church building, $11,375.50. Number Sunday Schools organized, 57. Number Sunday Schools, 193. Number scholars and teachers, 15,663. Raised for State Missions, $3,647.75. Raised for Home Missions, $3,049.54. Raised for Foreign Missions, $2,168.65. Raised for Orphanage, $1,218.98. Raised for Ministerial Education, $210.10. Raised for Aged Ministers, $420.34.

For the Women—Days engaged, 3,320. Recruits for Sunday Schools, 692. Visits made, 14,847. Pages of tracts given, 3,099. Scriptures donated, 222. Garments distributed, 2,002. Sick persons helped, 1,062. Children's meetings held, 360. Mothers' meetings held, 126. Teachers' meetings attended, 121. Sessions of Sunday Schools attended, 519. Women's Missionary Society meetings attended, 369. Prayer meetings attended, 678. Mission training classes held, 203.

Such a record, though highly significant, is only a suggestion of the toil endured and the sacrifices made by the faithful men and women who go into every section of the State, carrying the Gospel message. It does not in any sense portray the wholesome and mighty influence exerted by them, as they mingle with the people and toil for their uplift.

It is an incalculable loss to our Denominational History that, so far as I know, we have no record of State Mission work under the leadership of Brethren Dargan, Morrall, Lamar, Strickland and Griffith. But since 1885, the beginning of Dr. Bailey's administration, we have such a record—and this shows:

Baptisms, 23,934. Additions to Mission Churches, 50,506. Churches organized, 229. Houses of worship built, 217. Value of books sold, $90,000.

During this period of twenty-seven years more than one-half of our Baptist churches have been organized by, or in some material way aided in maintaining public worship by the State Mission Board. Such an achievement has won for the Board the confidence of the Brotherhood, which confidence justifies us in hoping for more liberal support in the future.

During the past year each department of our work has been more or less vigorously conducted. The following churches have been organized: Shivar Spring, Fairfield Association; Ridgeville, Colleton; Colonial Heights, Fairfield; Bleachery, Greenville; Gray Court, Laurens; Heida, Barnwell; Lugoff, Fairfield; Grendel, Abbeville: Cedar Creek, Waccamaw; Chapel Hill, Welch Neck; Westside, Chester; Dueane, Greenville; Boone's Creek, Twelve-Mile River.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

Under the efficient leadership of J. D. Moore, the Sunday School work has grown until it is far too large and its demands too heavy for one man's care. The report of this department will be submitted by Brother Moore in person.

THE EVANGELISTIC DEPARTMENT.

The Evangelistic Department has been so enlarged that five men are now employed, and though we have not, as formerly, State evangelists, we have what seems wiser to us, district or associational evangelists. These are Brethren A. P. Merett, in the Beaverdam; W. M. Walker, in the Twelve-Mile and Piedmont; J. D. Crane, in the North Greenville; J. W. Guy, in the Savannah River, and W. J. Langston, for one-fourth of his time in the Waccamaw. These men have been useful in their several communities, not only in reaching the unsaved, but in stimulating the churches to a larger usefulness in Christian work.

THE CHURCH BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

Our people seem not to have taken seriously the recommendation made at Greenwood that the Board spend $4,000 to aid this year in church building. Certainly the paltry sum I have received of $165.96 designated for this purpose would seem to indicate this. Therefore, I am again compelled to emphasize the need for this department. We have reached the stage of our development as a denomination when the demand for better equipment is nothing short of imperative. There comes to us from several of our mission pastors the most urgent pleas for assistance in building adequate houses of worship. These pleas we must respond to; otherwise we, as a denomination, will lose our opportunity for elevating and Christianizing the communities from which they come. Among the conspicuous examples of need for such assistance are Georgetown, Kingstree, Elmwood Park, Columbia, and Cannon Street, Charleston.

Likewise, in this connection, I beg to call attention to the fact that the Baptists in Rock Hill have committed themselves to an enterprise absolutely essential to their maintenance in that growing city. Unable of themselves to accomplish this work, they come to us with a cry worthy of our most serious consideration. Brethren, hear them when they call, and help them when they come to you.

MISSION DEPARTMENT.

The chief purpose of the Board is to carry the Gospel to every part of the state—the country, the towns and the cities. And while it never has and never will neglect the struggling country churches, it must reach forth a strong hand of help to the towns and cities. Here the people, massed together, are subject to temptations almost unknown in the country. Here, too, on account of their number and congestion, opportunities are greater for religious work and organization. Because of its realization of these facts, the Board has done and is now doing extensive mission work in Columbia; and for the same reason, now that the Capital City is well manned, it is turning its attention to Charleston. It is hard to overestimate the pressing need that exists in this city for mission work. Here is the doorway through which men from many lands are entering, and will continue to enter in greater numbers into our State. Consequently the Board selected for this and other work in Charleston Brother A. J. Nielsen, who, because of his knowledge of several languages, is peculiarly fitted to do mission work among foreigners. However, we have so far been unable to find a suitable man for Cannon Street, the important pastorate made vacant by Brother Nielsen's resignation.

These cases are typical of the problems which confront us, and the opportunities lying before us waiting to be improved. In citing them, I do not mean to neglect other localities where the needs are likewise great. But time would fail me if I attempted to mention them all. Hence I pass on to other matters.

The Board calls attention to the awkward financial condition that again faced us at the end of the present Convention year. Nearly half of the money received for State Missions came in during the last month, and the greater part of that during the last week. Such a state of affairs, involving uncertainty to the very end, must necessarily cause anxiety and even imperil the success of the work. Consequently, we beg earnestly for a change in our present system of giving to this cause.

The work of the year is concluded, and in reviewing it we find much occasion for gratitude and thanks. The Board is under renewed obligations to our faithful pastors and other church workers for their efficient co-operation throughout the year, and especially for their splendid rally during these closing days, by which an overwhelming debt was averted. In face of the shortest cotton crop of years, the gifts to the Board are truly remarkable—more so even than those of last year. To all who contributed their time, money and service we give our heartfelt thanks.

We pass from this year's labors to those of a new year. As we face the future, our hearts long for increased wisdom, greater power and deeper and more intelligent consecration, that the mighty tasks which confront us may in the name of our Master be accomplished. The Board would not in any sense transgress its bounds or trespass upon the functions of other departments of our denominational life. Yet it ventures to bring to the attention of this Convention for its serious consideration the following facts:

The moral conscience of many of our people is apparently seared as with a hot iron; hence, the standards of our living are far too low. This is seen in the open way many people are living unrebuked in sin. Many men are openly defrauding their fellows and gloating in the success which follows. Without recognizing higher obligations, they are climbing to business eminence by crushing weaker men. Then, wealth attained, they are attempting to atone for such methods by deeds of ostentatious charity, as if doing good is an acceptable substitute to God for being good.

Again, many people recognize and attempt to reconcile a double standard of morals for men and women; and this lack of moral sentiment concerning the lives of men is responsible for untold suffering. God forbid that we should ever grow lax in our condemnation for the sins of some women. But God help us likewise to put the social and moral ban on similar sins among men.

Likewise, we must recognize the fact, humiliating as it is, that many of our men are lacking in political conscience. When men sell their votes or duplicate and multiply them, surely it is high time for us, as Christian citizens, preachers and leaders, to cry aloud against such abasement of manhood, and fail not to denounce and prosecute those who would by such methods destroy our State.

The last phase of our life to which I call your attention is what may be termed the lack of an educational conscience. Many parents are sadly lacking in a sense of obligation to their children. They seem to regard these little ones as chattels, to be sold as slaves in the markets of commercial life. Such parents, regarding only the monetary value of their offspring, rebel at any suggestion of universal education. In the name of Him who loved little children, we should arise and put an end to this traffic.

In all these matters our responsibility as a denomination is overwhelmingly great. Upon us, as perhaps upon no other organization, by virtue of our numbers and wealth, rests the blame for these evils so glaringly prevalent in our State. What can we do to lessen them? Surely as individuals we can give our influence and support to every movement which has in view their abatement. And as a denomination, perhaps the time has come when the Board should join forces with our educational institutions and plant and foster Baptist High Schools all over the State.

1. We recommend that Church Building Fund hereafter be apportioned to the Associations, and that the Executive Committees of each Association apportion the same to the various churches.

2. That the Convention give the State Mission Board authority to confer with the Home Mission Board and, if practicable, to co-operate with them in the matter of enlisting the backward churches.

W. T. Derieux,
Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Your committee to whom was referred the report of the Executive Committee have reviewed its work with great gratification. There is occasion for joy that the State Board has reached the highest mark in its history, in the extent and success of its work, and yet has been able to report to the Convention without indebtedness. This has been due to the consecrated energy of our devoted Secretary and his co-workers, together with the co-operation of the pastors. There are features in the Board's report that call for special emphasis by the Convention, and we recommend:

1. That we seek to make the Church Building Department of this Board a reality and not a mere name. The pittance of $165.00 designated by the churches for this purpose does not dignify it as a department of work. Let the associations and churches see to it that the Church Building Fund has its place in their annual budget and their collection plan. We recommend that even if a sufficient amount is not designated for Church Building Fund, that the Board appropriate for it a reasonable per centum of the collections.

2. That we continue to press with untiring zeal upon every church the necessity of some systematic and clear-cut plan of missionary and benevolent offering, by which funds may flow into the treasury at least in quarterly installments. This is a matter of supreme importance to every part of our Christian activity.

3. That we give the Board full authority and sympathy in any practical plan by which it may co-operate with the Home Board in its enlistment of backward churches.

4. That we answer with hearty consecration the call of the Board for a deeper spiritual life that shall influence our people to practical godliness in all the spheres of our social and civic life.

SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPARTMENT OF THE STATE MISSION BOARD

1. In the field.

During the year, the Sunday School Secretary has spent 218 days in the field, and has traveled 10,535 miles radiating from Columbia. He has met 81 appointments, many of which were meetings of several days in institutes and in training class work. He has attended a much larger number of the Associations than usual, at which, in addition to the opportunity to present Sunday School work, he was entrusted also with the task of representing the general State Mission interests. The training class has been the chief feature of the field work during the year. 175 hours have been given to leading workers through the Manual; and besides this, the Secretary has delivered 165 lectures, addresses, etc.

2. At the office.

The correspondence of the department's office has been larger than ever, there having gone out more than 5,000 pieces of mail, absolutely without any clerical help. Much of the correspondence was devoted to explanations why the Secretary could not accept invitations—due to previous engagements of several months' standing. But the larger part consisted in answers to inquiries for literature and information on various Sunday School subjects.

Besides the correspondence, the Secretary has written several articles for publication in the periodicals and papers, and for meetings of Mission and Sunday School Secretaries. These have been on Sunday School or State Mission topics. About one-third of the Secretary's time has been spent at home—in the office.

3. TRAINING THE WORKERS.

Our teacher training work is fundamental, both in the discovery and the development of workers. Much of the Secretary's time, therefore, has been directly given to it. He has personally enrolled 422 pupils in one of the Normal Courses and has conducted classes in which 332 pupils have completed one of the books therein. Last year, the number of diplomas, together with that of the Red and the Blue seal graduates, was a little less than 500; now of the three there are not less than 875. This gain leads all the States in proportion to our numbers and the number of specialists engaged in Sunday School work. Still, we are not vieing with any other State in this matter. We have sought only to prosecute the training of the workers along lines that were safe and sane as well as aggressive and constructive. To pastors we most earnestly recommend that they lead their workers in the study of these courses.

4. GRADING THE SCHOOLS.

In a fewer instances than formerly the Secretary has personally superintended the grading of the schools. It seems best to do so only after a class of Normal students have finished their studies and when there are workers who will be able to take care of the school after it is graded. But we are glad to say that by the school officers themselves grading is being more rapidly done than ever before. The age basis is generally adopted, although absolute uniformity is well-nigh impracticable.

5. THE GRADED LESSONS.

We are highly gratified to note how widespread the use of the Graded Lessons is becoming. Of this the grading of the schools is both a cause and an effect, in some instances the one, in others the other, and in still others both. For the present, the Lessons for the Beginners and the Primary departments are used, but since the publication of the Junior Lessons, beginning with October, many schools are planning to begin them the first of next year. The Graded Lesson makes necessary the graded pupil; and it is also true that the graded pupil should have the advantage of the lessons best adapted to his needs. The Sunday School Department has in every way possible stressed the necessity for adopting these lessons.

6. THE STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

At the last Convention the opinion was reiterated that we should have a State-wide Convention for Sunday School workers, and the department was again instructed to make whatever plans therefor which were practicable. But it has not seemed advisable to undertake it, because such a meeting would have to be placed on a pay-entertainment basis should a desirable place be secured for it; because the demand for the instructional is far more general and imperative than for the inspirational, which makes necessary the Institute rather than the Convention; and because a suitable time for such a meeting, one at which a proper and necessary attendance could be had, has not as yet been found. Still, the need for a Convention may be near at hand, possibly next year; but we merely say that it has seemed impracticable so far.

7. SUMMER MEETINGS.

Since the discontinuance of the Assembly at Greenville, no general summer meetings have been held; although a number of Training Schools have sprung up to take its place and to make its continuance unnecessary. Besides the Institutes in the larger centers, local summer assembles are being held and provided for, notably the Santee Assembly and the mid-summer training school to be held at Landrum. We suggest, however, that, should it be thought best to do so, a summer gathering especially for pastors be endorsed, and that Dr. E. M. Poteat, with others whom he may associate with himself, be directed to plan for a Bible Conference and Institute to be held annually at Furman University if in their judgment it is wise to do so. We suggest also that as far as possible, our Sunday School workers cooperate with and take advantage of the Assemblies held at Ridgecrest, N. C., the Southern Baptist Assembly grounds. During the summer our workers are scattered over the hills of the Carolinas, and to get them together in meetings is a matter which must largely be left to local managers and to the tourists themselves.

8. MID-WINTER TRAINING SCHOOL.

Plans are being made for establishing at Columbia a mid-winter Training School strictly for Sunday School workers which may have a constituency not only within the State but beyond. The new Sunday School building of the First Church is well adapted to the needs and uses of such a meeting. It is hoped that this will become to the South Atlantic States during the winter what Ridgecrest is during the summer, so far as instruction in Sunday School work is concerned.

9. CONVENTION ADULT BIBLE CLASS DEPARTMENT.

The Sunday School Board is to be commended for the putting out of the plan for enlisting our organized classes in a distinctively Baptist movement. For several years we have needed the means by which our classes could be brought together as Baptist classes. This gives the opportunity. Already many of the Baracas and Philatheas have enrolled as standard classes and have received certificates. It is earnestly desired that all adult classes will organize after the plan suggested in the literature of the department and become identified with it; and that classes already organized will send for their certificates and get in line with a general movement among Southern Baptists.

10. AI SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

The new Standard of Excellence for Baptist Sunday Schools is somewhat simpler and more easily attained than the former one. We have only two schools which have reached the full standard, the First Church of Mullins, and Shandon, Columbia. The standard sets forth the ideal, and while there are quite a number of our schools which approximate it, we earnestly urge that all will make it their goal and that many will reach it within the next year.

11. THE ATTITUDE OF CHURCHES.

Again and again let us plead with the pastors and other officials of the churches, as well as Sunday School officers, to establish more thoroughly and generally the identity of the Sunday School and the church. Will not the churches take over the work of the schools, electing officers and teachers, and providing the funds necessary to carry on their labors? Much is lost both to the schools and to the general church work where the opinion exists that the school is one thing and the church is another. And we urge upon all the superintendents the necessity of making regular reports of the schools to the conferences of the churches under whose auspices they labor. It is a relation which ought to be mutual, and in the establishment of which, in some cases, some little concessions must be made by both.

12. ENLARGEMENT OF THE DEPARTMENT.

The frequency with which the Secretary has to decline invitations for work on account of previous engagements constitutes a serious handicap. There is but one remedy, and that is to increase the number of men for the field. Many of the States have two Secretaries and one has four. We must make a decided advance or grievous consequences will follow to our work along all lines. The calls for help demand it; the needs of those who are silent require it; and the growth and magnitude of the work make it necessary. Will not the Convention authorize the State Board to make such use of its evangelists and to employ such additional helpers as may be consistent with the needs on the one hand, and their capacity for enlargement in this respect on the other?

J. D. MOORE,
Sunday School Secretary.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Your committee to report on the Report of the Sunday School Committee recommend:

1. That the work in Institutes so well done in the past by Secretary J. D. Moore be continued in all parts of the State, both in groups of churches and associations.

2. That the training of workers through the Normal Course be specially emphasized. In many cases this work can and ought to be done by pastors, not taking the time of the Secretary, which is so much needed along other lines.

3. That the Adult Bible classes in our churches be urged to report to the Secretary and correlate themselves with the Sunday School Department.

4. That your committee, while recognizing the need set forth in the Report, does not see its way clear to recommend at this time an increase in field workers.

5. That in our emphasis on organization we must not neglect the great work of soul winning in our Sunday Schools.

W. L. Hayes,

J. R. Whitesides.

REPORT ON EVANGELISM

As writer of this report for the committee I have a definite suggestion for this Convention. This suggestion is the result of mature deliberation and meditation after having conducted numerous revivals in many states as Home Board evangelist; and now as pastor-evangelist I am constrained to believe that the regenerated members of our churches should realize that they, not outsiders, should do their duty in following close upon the work of the Holy Spirit in His conviction of sin.

Of course man cannot convict of sin; that is the Spirit's work. Of course man cannot regenerate; that is God's work. But man can talk to the convicted soul who is willing to call on God for mercy and induce that convicted soul to change his allegiance from Satan to Jesus. This persuading of man to change his mind on any question, as a direct result of a personal call, is an art. In order to arrest the attention of a man and cause him to see for a fact that he is under the wrath of his Creator, a tremendous power is requisite—none other power in fact than the Holy Spirit's power. But after having had his attention called by the Spirit to the enormity of his individual sin, then there is a need for some human being to show him, in a human way, how to become, in a human way, a follower of Christ.

The Salvation Army has given the world a new vision of how saving faith should lead to a life of consecration and service. No other organization seems to have realized so fully the personal duty of going out into the highways and byways to minister to the lost. Instead of spending time in discussing creeds and theories they have clothed the naked, visited the sick in prison, and fed the poor; all of which are Christ's own specific tests of service, in His name.

Our Baptist saving faith, here in South Carolina at least, seems to have led us to a multiplicity of societies and a craze to heap up more brick and mortar. Our energies are wasted in the operation of a great machine which can but wear itself out without producing the result intended.

To be more specific; Abbeville Association, the first in the list of Associational Reports, and the Association within whose bounds we are now meeting, will furnish us a ready example—eight hundred and forty-three Christians, so called, (that is twelve whole churches) did not have one single conversion in a whole year, although the twelve churches expended nearly $10,000 for various matters. (See statistical report of last Convention.)

This last astounding statement referred to but one Association. Hear the record as it appertains to the entire State: 362 churches in South Carolina did not have a single conversion. In these churches 28,000 (28,381) nominal Christians expended more than one hundred thousand dollars ($103,408.76), but they report no soul saved.

Therefore, I say that our South Carolina need is not more of the Spirit's power; (He always does His work perfectly); not more church houses; not more preachers, and not more evangelists, but emphatically I declare that our real need is for consecrated personal workers, who, supplementing all other agencies at the vital point, actually win souls for Christ.

In the preparation of this brief report, I have read scores of books. Statistics of every great revival show one remarkable fact—namely, that thousands of personal visits were made. In the record of Mr. Moody's blessed work in Boston (1877) I find that "Seventy thousand families in Boston were personally visited."

In this same report is a concise allusion to a personal-worker and I quote it to show how we do not do it in South Carolina:

"Uncle John Vassar labored with the Clarendon Street Church in his peculiar work, going through the streets of proud, cultured self-righteous Boston, ringing every doorbell and confronting every household with the great question of salvation. He was wont to describe himself as 'only a shepherd dog ready to run after the lost sheep and bring them back to the Shepherd'. He refused the honors and pay of the ministry. He would literally travail in prayer for the unconverted. His nights were nights of prayer and he would rise at the midnight hours to plead with God for the unsaved."

As personal-worker (not preacher or evangelist) he was master of spiritual things in those hard-learned and rarely-acquired secrets which open the way to the heart of sinful humanity.

My definite suggestion then is that in preparation for a meeting by evangelist or pastor (and during its progress also), converted, consecrated church members be found who will actually do the personal portion of the work as directed by the Holy Spirit.

TWENTY-FIRST REPORT OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE

For twenty years your Board of Trustees have had reason to come to the Convention with grateful acknowledgment to Almighty God.

A review of the present year shows the greatest work that we have ever done. The receipts have gone beyond any previous year in the history of the Orphanage. This large and growing institution is caring for the fatherless; training them in character; fitting them to earn a livelihood, and is a great inspiration to the Baptists of the State. The sympathy and love of all our people have been constantly with the Orphanage.

Necessarily, with the growth and development of the work, demands upon our Superintendent have increased, and there have been times when he was worked almost to the breaking point physically; but he loves his work and has a splendid capacity for carrying it forward.

We established a mattress factory this year in the Smith Industrial Building, and by this means we will make all of our mattresses used at the Orphanage hereafter.

The Sanitarium, which was the gift of an unknown friend, representing a cost of $6,000, was finished this year. It has proved a great blessing and has cared for a number of our children who were ill.

About two weeks ago one of our barns was completely destroyed by fire. The loss was $2,000.

A meeting of the Board of Trustees was held in May at the Orphanage. Reports were considered and matters pertaining to the carrying forward of the work of the institution were planned and discussed. The trustees were pleased with the manifest evidence of progress during the past year. We have fifteen trustees on the board, and all but two of this number were present.

We have now in our Orphanage 230 children, who are being looked after and cared for physically and spiritually by our most efficient Superintendent.

The hearts of our Baptist people turn to their Orphanage, and we believe the coming year will show even larger gifts and a greater work.

G. B. BUELL, President.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANACE TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

For the Year Ending November 30, 1912.

This is the twenty-first annual report submitted by the Trustees to the Convention, and as Superintendent of the Orphanage it affords me pleasure to give a detailed report of the management of the institution to the Trustees.

Blessings have strewn our pathway during the year. It has not been sunshine every day, but there has been much of brightness and blessing. Almighty God has smiled upon us in ways that plainly indicate His favor, and it is with grateful hearts that another twelve months' period is rounded out.

FINANCIAL.

It has, first of all, been the largest year financially in the history of the institution. The receipts for Work Day exceeded those of any previous year. They were so large as to give our income a steady upward tendency and helped to pay off in October many bills that had been waiting for some time.

Second. We note the gift of $1,000 by Brother C. K. Henderson, of Aiken, for the purpose of founding a scholarship for the education of an orphan boy. His desire is that some boy shall be annually taught the printers' trade in order that he may be able to support himself upon leaving the institution.

We also recall with grateful appreciation the gift of Mrs. J. G. Jenkins of $469. Our thanks are expressed to both of these kind friends.

Third. During the past year money has come in for the purpose of finishing the Sanitarium. It is almost completed at this time, and the prospect is that within a few weeks it will have the last finishing touch put upon its walls. This is a very great addition to the work of the Orphanage and we are in better position to care for the sick than ever before.

Fourth. We deem it our duty to report to the Convention that a debt has gradually been accumulating for a few years past. A rainy Work Day a few years ago cut our Work Day receipts down some $2,000. A new building, two large silos and other additions made in the year 1910 were not paid for, and they increased the debt about $2,000. We contemplated paying for these improvements out of current income, but were disappointed in this plan. The Convention Building failed to be paid for by about $1,000, and then in addition we had to furnish the house and go to other expense, which gave us another $1,000. The fire which destroyed one of the large barns about two weeks ago cost about $2,000, so that we are $8,000 behind at the present time. We should not ask the Convention to make arrangements for raising this amount, as the Trustees will likely be able to manage it in time, but we think it just to give due notice in order that all may understand the exact situation.

HEALTH.

We are grateful to report that the Sanitarium has put us in better position to care for all forms of sickness and that much has been done in the way of preventive medicine during the past year. Eyes have been looked after more closely than ever before, and we are especially grateful to Dr. M. R. Faville, of Greenwood. Dr. J. B. Hughey and Dr. W. P. Turner have performed a large number of operations for adenoids, turbinage, enlarged tonsils, rhinitis and the like. Dr. T. J. Crymes has done fine work in preventive dentistry, and many of the children have had their mouths put in first rate condition.

We have had one case of pneumonia during the year. Epidemics of mumps and measles caused some inconvenience last winter, but both these troubles soon passed and left no marks of devastation. One little girl was seriously burned February 9th last, but, thanks to prompt attention of Drs. Neel and Turner, she was brought through to life and health. Dnring the year we have had special study made of pellagra and hookworm, and the State Board of Health has given great assistance in this matter. It is our effort to safeguard the health of the children at every point, so that they may leave the instituion well equipped physically for life. We feel that it would be a great pity for them to leave the Orphanage with handicaps that would follow them forever. We are grateful for the unusual report of health for the year. Most of our ailments have been minor and could soon be relieved.

SCHOOL.

With regard to the work of the school I can do no better than quote from the report recently handed in to me by Miss Jeannette Murdoch, the principal of the school. It is our pride that the school has taken such a fine stand among the schools of the State and that the children that have left us have done so well in other educational institutions. Miss Murdoch says:

"The school year is ten months. The first session begins in September and closes the last of January. The second session closes the last of June. The enrollment the present year is 122 girls and 95 boys, making a total of 217 pupils. They are assigned to the different grades and teachers as follows:

Grade	No. Pupils	Name of Teacher
I	25	Miss Mary Sue Sproles
I Adv.	25	" " " "
II	25	" Elmira Hardin
III	24	" " "
IV	21	" Tallulah Crowther
V	19	" " "
VI	34	" Edith Wells
VII	16	" Elizabeth Grant
VIII	13	" " "
IX	9	" Jeanette Murdoch
X	5	" " "

"The course of study compares favorably with that of the other graded schools of the State. A student who completes the tenth grade is able to enter the freshman class in college. At present there are twenty of our boys and girls attending college.

"In connection with the regular school work is a literary society, the members of which are pupils of grades VII., VIII., IX., X. This feature of school work affords the members not only a diversion from the monotony of school, but gives training in debating and declaiming.

"The music department is under the direction of Mr. G. H. Smart. Eighteen pupils study piano. A chorus of about thirty voices is trained by him.

"Once each month teachers' meetings are held under the leadership of the principal. In the meetings different methods of teaching are discussed. Reports are sent out monthly. An extra session of school is kept on Saturday afternoons as a spur to those pupils who fail to do their duty during the week.

"The aim of the school is to train the children in such a way as to lay the foundation for an active and useful life. The teachers look upon school as an opportunity to develop the largest things in life. Among them is harmony and loyalty to the official head."

NEW FEATURES.

There are several new features that call for special mention. A Baptist church was organized at the Orphanage September 15th last. The organization is composed of the officers and teachers resident at the Orphanage. We have one hundred and ninety-three members and the organization has started off well. Three deacons were elected. Regular collections are observed and the contributions are sent to the various causes supported by the State Convention. Envelopes are used in making the contributions, so that every child who has even one penny to give may do so by envelope. We hope to teach systematic giving and also some knowledge of church government, and have also started a prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at the Orphanage. We see many reasons for believing the church organization will prove to be a great blessing.

During the year electric lights have been installed in most of the buildings of the institution. This has been done, as a rule, by kind friends, who were anxious to see electric lights introduced, that the old kerosene lamps might be discarded. Some of the matrons have themselves paid for the expense of introducing electricity. In other cases friends of the Orphanage have joined in contributing to have this work done. It is an unspeakable improvement to change from kerosene lamps to electricity.

We have also during the year introduced machinery for the making of mattresses. Hereafter we will be able to save a great deal of money by making our own mattresses rather than buying them. It will also give another line of industry for the boys. We have been quite successful in the mattresses that we have made thus far, and feel that the industry will be one that will prove advantageous to our plant.

NEEDS.

Above all the needs of the Orphanage at present is that of sewerage. It is getting to be too advanced an age for us not to make progress in this regard. The Orphanage is now too large a village for us to be indifferent as to the matter of sewage disposals. If a fund of $2,000 could be provided, we believe that arrangements could be made to satisfactorily take care of the matter. We know of no more pressing need at the Orphanage at present than this. We lay it upon the hearts of the brethren in hope that some of them may devise a scheme for making improvement along this line.

The next crying need is that of a new cottage. It has been over three years since we have made any enlargement in the number of children at the Orphanage. Our income has enlarged some during that time, but the increased cost of living has held us down straight to our income. But it does seem that the Baptists of this State are sufficiently numerous, and certainly sufficiently wealthy, to take care of another cottage, if some one could be found to build it. We have no such person in mind. We would not advise that a fund be undertaken on the floor of the Convention, or that the denomination be asked to provide such a house by subscription list. Since the price of building material has gone up so high it is probable that such a house as would be needed to care for twenty-four children would cost something like $8,000. It would certainly, with all the necessary modern conveniences, cost not less than $7,000. We hope that some one may be found to build the house, and if such a house should be erected by any large-hearted brother or sister, we feel quite sure that the denomination would rally to the task of supporting the children who might fill the house.

There are 1,200 orphan children cared for in South Carolina at the present time in institutions. There are about 100,000 cared for in the institutions of the United States. This seems to be a great company, and yet we have merely touched the fringes of this work so far. In many a community we have had to say "No" to groups of children who ought to be received into the Orphanage. It is not only the unworthy cases that have been declined, but many a case that has been destitute and that has come under the class that we call pressing has been declined because of lack of room. We are by no means meeting the situation; in fact, we are only meeting it in a very partial and desultory way. It sometimes appears to be almost arbitrary that the word "No" has to be uttered when brethren insist that pressing cases should be received. It is not optional with the Superintendent, however, nor even optional with the Board of Trustees. It is simply a case of contracted quarters and no more room. We lay this matter of enlargement upon the hearts of the brethren and trust they may help find in our constituency some one that will bid us go forward in an enlarged equipment.

THE FARM.

Farm work for the boys is, we consider, a great blessing to them. It gives them life in the open air, which is sure to develop muscle, lung power and general energy. It furthermore gives a boy a practical experience that will be worth much to him through life. It is a blessing to a long line of boys that the Maxwells gave to the Baptists a great farm on which to rear the orphan boys. The produce raised on the farm usually increases in amount each year. It is so this year. Mr. Nixon, the assistant superintendent, with a helper, manages the truck department. This requires about 45 acres of land in among the buildings comprising the settlement. He is also in charge of the cows and dairying. The large farm on which the corn, peas, oats and heavy produce are raised is in charge of Mr. Cooper and is cultivated with hired labor entirely. The boys have all they can do, and a little more, to keep up with the trucking or gardening department. We estimate the value of vegetables and farm products for the year to be worth $12,342.46. The produce is partially covered by the following list:

Fifty-six bushels beans.
Two hundred and twenty-three gallons canned beans.
Apples.
Beets.
Three thousand and thirty pounds beef.
Cabbage.

One thousand one hundred and fifty bushels corn.
Seven bales cotton.
Thirty-four tons hay.
Sixty bushels Irish potatoes.
Fourteen thousand one hundred and seventy-four gallons milk.
Onions.
One hundred bushels peaches.
Four hundred and three gallons canned peaches.
Two hundred and thirty-three pounds pecans.
Peas.
Plums.
One thousand five hundred and fifty bushels sweet potatoes.
One hundred tons ensilage.
Sixty bushels tomatoes.
Two hundred and ninety-three gallons canned tomatoes.
Beef and pork.

The generous supply of farm and garden has afforded better living than would have been possible if goods had been bought. Furthermore, the diet has been more wholesome, more varied and more abundant.

MISCELLANEOUS.

During the year we have cared for 258 children, the average number having been about 225. The limit of accommodation at present is 240, and we will be full within a few days, as soon as some that have been accepted shall have arrived.

During the year the boxes of clothing, provisions, barrels of syrup and crates of fowls have been a great help in the support of the institution. We estimate the value of dry goods, clothing, provisions and general merchandise to be $3,599.30.

Attention is called in this report to the action of the Trustees last May in changing the name of the old Infirmary Building to that of Greenwood Cottage. Since the new Sanitarium has been built we found that there was frequent and embarrassing confusion as to the names of the two houses. The reason for giving the building the new name arose from the fact it was originally largely paid for by citizens of Greenwood, irrespective of denominational lines.

June 28th last will be long remembered as a time of reunion of many of the former pupils of the institution. Some thirty-odd graduates and former students came together to renew acquaintance and fellowship. It was a season of happy association, and was the occasion of organizing a Students' Association. The first work decided upon by the newly-organized body was to undertake the full support of a child in the institution.

Public recognition may well be made of the fact that the Orphanage wood supply for the winter has been furnished by Mr. W. A. Lawton, of Brunson. His generosity was nobly met by the authorities of the Charleston & Western Carolina Railway Company, who hauled the wood to the Orphanage sidetrack without freight charges. This is the first time we have had a winter's wood supply furnished free since the death of the Maxwells.

Attention is called to the needs of the Library. The building is attractive and comfortable, having been erected by Mrs. Sallie F. McKissick about eight years ago. It is liberally patronized by the children. The supply of books, however, is not adequate. A fund for the purchase of new books would bring not only pleasure, but great profit to the children. We should be glad to find some person to whom this cause might specially appeal.

The Printing Department has had a satisfactory year, except financially. We should like to get more job work from the denomination. We have a thoroughly equipped job office, a strictly competent foreman, and plenty of boys to execute the work. We consider this feature of industrial work one of the most important we could give the boys, but would be glad to commercialize it at least to the extent of making it pay its way.

We have had a great loss in the removal by death of our faithful and accomplished office helper, Miss Katie McCallman. Stricken with appendicitis February 9th last, she died July 9th. Her competent help in the office for several years past as bookkeeper, clerk and secretary to the Superintendent has been worth much to the institution. She was very dear to the most of us, for she came to the Orphanage as a tiny girl, graduated from the institution, and developed into a fine character and a splendid business woman. Her loved ones have our sympathy in her passing away.

INDUSTRIAL.

It is a growing conviction with us at the Orphanage that the equipment for industrial training should be improved and enlarged. The boy or girl who knows how to use the hand in a useful way does not, we find, suffer long for want of work to do. As every child should be able to support himself when he leaves the institution, we should much like to have a larger scope for and a bigger variety of industrial activities. The Smith Industrial Building, erected with funds resulting from the estate of the late J. Terrill Smith, of Williston, gives a distinct advantage over all equipment for this work up to date. As new features are introduced and the building enlarged it is hoped that provision will be abundantly made for a closer relation between the daily life of our young people at the Orphanage and the regular life into which they shall go upon leaving the Orphanage.

At present we have the following lines of industry for the girls:

Cooking, housekeeping, laundry, sewing and canning. For the boys we offer printing, dairying, mattress-making, farming, gardening, canning, fruit culture and chair-caning. In the near future it is our purpose to add broom-making for the boys and domestic science for the girls.

Greenwood, S. C., November 30th, 1912.

To the Baptist State Convention, Abbeville, S. C.

Dear Brethren:—I have examined for the year ending November 30th, 1912, the books of Rev. A. T. Jamison, Superintendent of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, and find them carefully and neatly kept and correct. Respectfully,

J. W. Sproles,
Acting Auditor.

REPORT ON REPORT OF CONNIE MAXWELL ORPHANAGE

It is cause for profound gratitude that the Orphanage management has this year made the best report in the history of the institution. During the year we have cared for 258 children, with total receipts from all sources amounting to $45,273.30. The record of the school, the health of the children and the entire condition of the institution are highly gratifying. We believe that the installation of a sewerage system is a necessity in order that the health of the children may be protected, and would recommend that the Trustees be instructed to install such a system as soon as they can see their way to finance the measure.

We would call the attention of the constituency of this Convention to the need of enlarging the capacity of the institution by the building of another home. We would suggest that the Superintendent of the Orphanage put the need before the Baptists of the State, with the hope that generous friends may supply the necessary funds for such enlargement, and believe that our people will supply the funds to take care of the increased current expenses.

We commend the purpose of the management to enlarge the industrial equipment of the institution, to the end that the children may have the best equipment for the practical duties of life.

It is the abiding conviction of your committee that the Orphanage is extremely fortunate in having so capable a Superintendent and so competent and wise a Board of Trustees, who give so liberally of their time and thought to the management of the institution.

We commend the Orphanage to the continued love and loyalty of the Baptists of the State. Respectfully submitted,

B. J. Woodward,
J. D. Bailey.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION

There are thirty-five students in the University and the Fitting School who have applied to this Board for aid. This is perhaps the largest number that have ever asked aid from the Board at any time. The amount that these thirty-five students ask from the Board is $3,400.00.

The appropriation for this object is about $4,000.00, but only about one-third of this amount was raised during the Convention year. So it is seen that the Board is unable to meet the demands that are made upon it.

It is the sense of the members of this Board that its interests are suffering because it has no field representative, as all other objects fostered by the Convention have, with one exception. The President was requested to make this statement to the Convention in his annual report.

The Convention last year requested the Board to report at this time on the wisdom of giving aid to the students outright. The members of this body, after a careful consideration of this matter, do not deem it wise to recommend the adoption of such a measure.

In conclusion, we feel that the churches of the State ought to come to the immediate help of this Board. We would suggest that the second Sunday in January, 1913, be made Ministerial Education Day in all the churches, and that a special collection be taken to aid the students now at Furman University and the Fitting School.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY MILLER.

REPORT ON REPORT OF MINISTERIAL BOARD

In this day of recognition of the imperative need of Christian education as the basis of denominational life, your committee with trepidation presents the facts submitted by the Board of Ministerial Education. An educated ministry alone can insure denominational progress. The neglected part of the Great Commission, the command to teach, has been stressed at this Convention. The call to preach comes not every time to the affluent, to the young man of well-to-do parents. Baptist experience teaches us that many of our strongest and best preachers have been assisted in preparation for their work by the churches and their Boards. The 150,000 Baptists of South Carolina must, in the main, look to the young men educated at their own college for the future pastors of their churches. Thirty-five of these students, young ministers, are now applying for aid, and we find, instead of means to assist, debts to embarrass. The Convention last year asked of the churches $4,000.00. The response was about one-third of this sum, or over $600.00 less than receipts reported last year. We wish to emphasize the need and our duty. We believe there has been a failure to present the facts to the churches, and therefore we recommend:

First. The adoption of the suggestion of the Board, that the second Sunday in January, or in churches not having services every Sunday, the first day of services after this date, be "Ministerial Education" day for mention of and special collection for this part of our work.

Second. That the Executive Committee of the Board be authorized to select and appoint a Vice-President for each Association to work with and in harmony with the Board in the interests of this neglected cause.

Third. That the apportionment for next year be set at $5,300.

Respectfully submitted,
CHAS. A. SMITH, Chm.
W. C. WALLACE.
J. A. CARSON.

REPORT OF AGED MINISTERS' RELIEF BOARD

A report on the same subject, written by the same man, every year for twenty years, can hardly contain any novel or startling revelation after the twentieth year. Hence, if now and then the same word is said again, or an ancient and time-worn idea is introduced, it must be pardoned as an unavoidable evil.

We are living in a new world, in many respects. Everything has changed and the old order is dead. The one salient feature that juts out and abides forever in dazzling prominence is the fixedness of the preacher's salary. This remains the same, with no shadow cast by changing. The man who wants something permanent—something more unchanging than his best friend—ought to enter the ministry and have an experience with the preacher's salary. The increased cost of living may influence a hen to charge more to lay an egg; but it cannot have any effect upon the preacher's salary.

The result is that to be a preacher means to be a poor man, dependent upon what the churches are willing to give, rather than upon what they are able to pay. All of us—preachers and laymen—being purely human and naturally anxious to do for ourselves the best that is possible, we need not go far to find an answer to the question—Why do so few men enter the ministry? It is an instinct with us all to keep out of the poorhouse, if we can.

The preacher's problem grows larger with the multiplying years. This is the young man's age—the age of rush and hurry—and the old man, who has seen his best day, must limp along in the rear until the moving column passes out of sight. It is a sombre fact, as solemn as sombre, that the age demands the service of young men. To them, if they have gifts, the fields are open everywhere, and in every realm of industry the young man can find a place of labor.

The old man stands aside, and wonders why he is left. He asks, Is experience worth nothing? Has wisdom no value? While he stands wondering the world hurries on and leaves him.

That the Christian churches should feel called upon to look after and support these old men is only in accord with the spirit of the New Testament teaching. Works of charity took hold of the early Christians before they ever launched the great missionary enterprise. The spirit of the Dorcas Society at Joppa antedates Paul and the spirit of missionary propagandism. The first hand that was ever held out in obedience to Jesus was reached towards those struggling in poverty. Out of this fact have grown all our eleemosynary institutions, which make the world all the more beautiful.

All these things being true, it seems almost out of keeping with reason to suppose it to be necessary to have to urge those men actively engaged in the ministry to lend a helping hand in collecting funds to supply the needs of their older comrades who have come to the day of folded hands and useless lips. But such is the case, and there is nothing so depressing as the seeming carelessness and unconcern of many pastors. Until we can win their more active sympathy and co-operation, the Aged Ministers' Board must continue to conduct a sort of clerical poorhouse, to which one will come in old age when dire necessity compels him, and he has no other helper to whom he can turn.

Your Board is doing the very best it can. We are trying, in a moderate way, to help those who need help, and then we are trying to lay up a fund which will eventually enable us to get up from the poorhouse level to a higher plane of service. While we cannot give away money in large sums, we stand ready to aid every Baptist minister in South Carolina who is disqualified for work by age or by disease.

A few days ago, at the instance of Bro. N. F. Shivar, the Secretary and Treasurer of the Board visited him at his home at Shelton, in company with another member of the Board from Sumter. Brother Shivar pointed out a rounded hilltop, beautiful for situation, which he is willing to deed to us, with as much land as is necessary, for the erection thereon of a home for the old preachers. He also stated that, at his death, he purposed to bequeath the rest of his lands at Shelton—several hundred acres—to this Board for the maintenance of its work. The Board is the servant of the Convention, and is ready to obey its orders in this or in any other matter. Our only recommendation is that before this or any other step be taken, the whole matter shall be looked into and freely and fully canvassed.

Respectfully submitted,

C. C. Brown, Secretary and Treasurer. B. Walsh, Chairman.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE AGED MINISTERS' RELIEF BOARD

Your committee wish to report that after carefully looking into the report of the Aged Ministers' Relief Board, they find a good year's work has been accomplished, and from the Associations the Board has received and disbursed $6,371.82. We find the Board is very careful and conservative in the item of expenses, and has kept this down to a minimum. While the committee recognizes the righteousness of the claims of our aged ministers and the fidelity of the Board's work, yet we find that the co-operation of the churches is not keeping pace with the real demands upon us as a great denomination of the State. There are two Associations which reported no contribution at all through its churches.

To think that the preachers of a former day have builded so wisely that we of this day stand proudly and claim a constituency larger than the constituency of all other denominations is one thing, but to give this faithful brother the small quota allowed him quarterly is quite another thing. We ask the Board, if possible, to increase its quarterly payments to the beneficiaries 33 1-3%.

We ask, also, to acknowledge the gracious proposition made by Brother Shivar, of Shelton, to the Board, and thank him heartily as South Carolina Baptists. We would recommend that the Convention instruct the Board to investigate further the full purpose of Brother Shivar and also ascertain the feasibility of establishing a home for our old preachers at the place suggested, and that the Board be hereby given full power to act in the matter and report to the 1913 Convention.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF FURMAN UNIVERSITY

The following paragraphs from the President's Report to the Board of Trustees were presented by Chas. A. Smith to the Convention:

To the Board of Trustees of Furman University, Abbeville, S. C.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to submit my semi-annual report for the session of 1912-13.

I.

At the June meeting of the Alumni Association a movement for the increase of the student body was launched, with "Four Hundred Students at Furman in 1914" as the slogan. Resolutions were endorsed with great heartiness and an organizing committee, consisting of W. E. Wilkins, B. E. Geer and C. B. Martin, was appointed. This committee early arranged for a Furman Alumni edition of the Baptist Courier, and projected and conducted the most enthusiastic summer canvass for students ever undertaken. Without doubt the present increase of the student body is in part due to this campaign. The committee is not laying down its work, but proposes to carry it forward with the same zeal. It is expected that in the course of time we shall see a Furman Alumni Association in every county in the State.

The present student body consists of 29 Seniors, of whom one is taking post-graduate work for the M. A. degree and two others are taking some of the resident work for that degree; 39 Juniors, 56 Sophomores and 92 Freshmen. In the Fitting School there are 121 (114 attendance) students. Total in college classes 216. Grand total 327.

II.

The ever-present question has been forced upon us again, viz: the articulation of the college course with the course in high schools. It comes before us in the number of Freshmen who fall below the pass marks in the first months of the session. Some 43 of the entire

Freshman class are in this group. Of course, the faculty have no means of knowing the explanation of such a condition—whether the standard of the high schools is below grade; or whether the teaching done there is deficient; or whether the student has won his certificate unfairly; or whether our own class room methods are at fault. Perhaps the fact that the students find it hard to adjust themselves to the new situation and the new methods, together with a general unwillingness to buckle down to hard work at the beginning, accounts for a considerable percentage of this delinquency.

We have done what we could to stimulate these young men, and hope that a number of them will succeed in passing the December examinations. Those who do not pass will find accompanying their December reports a recommendation that they be withdrawn from the college classes and take further preparatory work either in the Fitting School or in their home schools.

Facts like these make it plain that we must be patient in the matter of raising our entrance requirements beyond the present standard printed in the catalogue.

The students have been taken care of in the present dormitories with the help of two or three cottages that we have brought into requisition, though it would be difficult to provide for more students in close proximity to the campus.

The student life has been for the most part satisfactory, and we had only one instance of necessary discipline, and this in connection with a slight outbreak of hazing in the month of October. With one exception, the young men accepted the penalty in good spirit and are continuing their studies.

Dr. R. T. Bryan, of China, made addresses September 28-29 in the interest of the Mission Study classes, and the Y. M. C. A. have since taken up the book, "China's New Day," with interest.

From October 28th to November 2nd Dr. A. W. Lamar was with us in special services. He spoke at chapel service, met a group of students in the afternoon for prayer and council, and spoke in the evening in a general meeting of students from seven to eight. Out of 27 non-church members there were nine professions of conversion, and a large proportion of church members rededicated themselves to the Christian life. Two members of the Senior class made a public acknowledgment of their backsliding and of their determination to go out from Furman thoroughgoing Christian men. Dr. Lamar's visit as a whole was a gracious blessing.

III.

Prof. Payne, who came to us this year, is the assistant in Mathematics, carrying two sections of Freshman Mathematics, one section of Sophomore Mathematics. He comes highly commended from the University of Georgia, and has had special study in Columbia University, New York.

The most striking feature in the classification of students is the increase of the numbers in Freshman German and Freshman Physics, due to the B. S. degree introduced three years ago. There are three sections of Freshman German and two sections of Freshman Physics; three each of English and Mathematics, and two of Latin. The professors average about fifteen hours per week each and are working together in harmonious co-operation and genuine interest in the young men.

For our mutual stimulus the faculty have under consideration a literary and scientific organization for the discussion of topics of general interest which may arise in the several departments. The first meeting has been planned for the 9th of January, and we hope in course of time to develop interest among the students generally in these occasional public meetings of the faculty.

IV.

The President since the June meeting of the Board has met appointments covering a wide area. These include Baltimore; the North Carolina Assembly of Baptist Young People; the Southern Students' Conference at Blue Ridge; the Mississippi Baptist Encampment; the Florida Encampment; the Georgia Summer School at the University of Georgia; the Virginia Baptist Encampment; the Southern Baptist Educational Rally at Ridge Crest, N. C.; the Arkansas Baptist Encampment; Rochester and Chautauqua, New York; Northfield, Mass.; Boston, Mass.; Richmond, Va.; University of Virginia; Wake Forest, N. C.; Meredith College, N. C., and Atlanta, Ga. Within the State: Greenwood; Saluda Association; Saluda County; Ridge Association; Reedy River Association; Green Street and Southside churches and Y. M. C. A. at Spartanburg; Edisto Association; Moriah Association; Simpsonville; Chesterfield Association; Southern Association of Schools and Colleges at Spartanburg; Savannah River Association; churches in Florence and Welsh Neck Association; two addresses on Education in Laurens County and one in the Piedmont Association.

As President of the Southern Baptist Educational Association, he has had considerable correspondence this fall with refrence to the proposed meeting of representatives of all the Baptist schools and colleges in the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention. This meeting will be held in Nashville January 24-26. The program is already outlined and embraces practically all the questions that may come before such a meeting. The purpose is to unify Baptist sentiment and convictions on the subject of denominational education. Replies received indicate a widespread interest in the proposed conference. Besides this there has, of course, been the regular correspondence of the office, which includes monthly letters to contributing churches to our Current Support Funds and to the members of the L. E. Union. The letter to the churches may be of interest to you, and I enclose one herewith:

> Dear Brother:—Our books show that during the month of ..... last year your church sent us a contribution of $..... to Current Support of Furman University. You will understand that with Brother Easterling's retirement from the Agency we have no man traveling in South Carolina in the interest of this fund this year. Accordingly, we are writing you to ask that you bring the matter before your church and, if possible, send us a contribution during the month of .....
> Thanking you for your assistance in the past and assuring you of our hearty appreciation of what you may do for us this year, we are, Cordially yours,

I am glad to report that I have on my calendar visits to numerous churches scheduled as far ahead as the month of March, and hope by these visits to keep the institution before the local churches; my purpose being to keep in lively touch with the brotherhood at large.

This outside work I have not allowed to interfere with my regular class room work at home. My hours are so arranged as to give me Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday for this outside work. The work in the classes in Bible and Christian Ethics has been more satisfactory this year than ever before, perhaps for the reason that the hours are better arranged, and especially for the reason that the class in Ethics meets three times a week on three consecutive days—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—at the first period of the day. All Senior classes now meet three times a week. Formerly we met only twice a week for Ethics. My aim in this class room work and in the chapel services which I carry every day I am on the hill is to give to all the students a substantial knowledge of Christianity in its origin, documents, its doctrines of salvation and the moral life. Many schools are discussing the question whether such a course ought to be required. I regard that as a settled question at Furman. All of this work is required of all candidates for degrees.

I have brought these facts together here in order that you may know something of the details of the work of the President; of course omitting a hundred others which are involved in the daily intercourse of actual life on the campus.

V.

The Treasurer will report on the Current Expense and Living Endowment Union collections. But I wish to call attention to the fact that we have received from December, 1911, to December, 1912, contributions from about 150 churches and very nearly all the Associations. I hope that the Executive Committees of the several Associations have by this time become accustomed to the Current Support Fund, and that there is a general understanding in the denomination about it and the needs it is intended to supply. Members of the Living Endowment Union have paid in $1,100.00 during the year.

The field representative, Dr. McDuffie, will make his own report, but I wish to add my own endorsement of Dr. McDuffie's methods and the wisdom with which he is pursuing his very difficult enterpise. I believe he is making valuable friends for the institution wherever he goes. In view of our local situation in South Carolina, it seems necessary that Dr. McDuffie continue his campaign outside of the State for some months to come.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON REPORT TO TRUSTEES OF FURMAN UNIVERSITY

We find the report of President Poteat, addressed to the Board of Trustees of Furman University, full of interesting information and most encouraging. It deserves to be carefully read and studied in detail. Special attention may be called to the effort to enlist the Alumni in a movement to put 400 students in the college by 1914. The fact that the discipline of the college has been so satisfactory and the conduct of the students such as to occasion little or no difficulty is a matter for us to consider with pardonable pride and appreciation. The prosperity of the college, its manifestly wise management, its prospects for continued and increasing service and efficiency, call for our gratitude and our abiding enthusiasm and loyal support. There are no special recommendations of the President which seem to call for special emphasis or consideration in this report.

Respectfully submitted,
E. V. Baldy,

PRESIDENT'S REPORT TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE GREENVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

This report was made to the Board of Trustees, and the President of the college was requested to submit it to the Convention in substance as the report of the Board to the Convention.

Gentlemen of the Board:—You will permit me, as President of the Greenville Female College, to submit my first report for the session of 1912-'13.

I. EQUIPMENT.

The new North Building, authorized by the Board at its meeting last June, was completed in due time for occupancy at the opening of the session. Doubtless the President of the Board of Trustees will have a full report on the construction of this building. It will be proper, however, for me to say that the building seems to be an excellent structure and is meeting, in a most satisfactory way, all the purposes for which it was designed. The first floor is devoted to the Science Department, servants' dining room and laundry. The laundry has not yet been furnished. It is with feelings of deepest gratitude that I record the fact that the children of the late Hon. T. Q. Donaldson have furnished the Science Department with every necessary modern equipment as a memorial to their father. It is difficult to exaggerate the importance to the college of this timely and liberal gift. On the second floor of this building there is a beautifully furnished and finished dining room, not inferior to any dining room in the State. The same may be said of the pantries and kitchen, located on the same floor. The third and fourth stories of the building contain dormitory accommodations for sixty-eight students, with as beautiful rooms and hallways as could be desired. It is the simple truth to say that every foot of this new building lends itself to modern college work with unexcelled completeness. It ought to be said that the new Webster vacuum steam heating system, which furnishes heat for all the college buildings, is giving perfect satisfaction. The electric lighting system and the water supply seem to be all that could be desired. The new dairy, from which we derive about twenty-five gallons of pure, rich milk every day, supplying all of our needs in this respect, is a great success. We produce the milk at about one-half market price, and have the additional advantage of knowing that it is sanitary.

II. HEALTH.

Again the President has the great pleasure and satisfaction of reporting an almost perfect state of health prevailing among the students. We have lost one student from attendance by reason of sickness, but this young lady came from the low country with a stubborn case of malaria, which held on so long that it became impossible for her to finish her session's work, so she returned home. The present arrangement of having an infirmary matron, rather than a trained nurse, is commending itself to the institution. A good, sensible, motherly woman, co-operating with the skillful college physician, Dr. Joe Earle, is a most satisfactory arrangement. The sickness at the college in almost every case is a temporary ailment lasting scarcely more than twenty-four to forty-eight hours.

III. DEPORTMENT.

The deportment of the students up to the present time has been well nigh perfect. At the opening of the session a card to be placed in each student's room was printed, giving the college regulations in detail. These are not ironclad rules, but a simple statement of things that are necessary to be observed by two hundred and fifty people living under the same roof. Not a single adverse criticism with reference to these regulations has come to the ear of the President from the student body, and the result has been that the college family has lived with a cordial, good understanding, rendering life a joy, thereby enabling the students to do thorough, uninterrupted work. The rule has been that the students are working close up to the limit of their strength.

IV. STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS.

It seems proper that the Board of Trustees should have some knowledge of the student activities in the institution. There are two literary societies at the college, both bearing the name of our able and honored teacher, Miss Mary C. Judson; but to distinguish them, they are known by the Greek letters, Alpha and Beta Literary Societies. The societies are doing excellent work this session, and there is a spirit of harmony within each society and a strong and wholesome competition between the societies prevails. There are two publications owned, controlled and financed by the student body—The Isaqueena, issued monthly, and the annual, Entre Nous. These magazines stimulate good writing among the students and are highly creditable to the institution. A strong Athletic Association has been organized this session, composing about one hundred and eighty members. This is under the general supervision of our efficient and enthusiastic teacher, Miss Whitmarsh, while sections of the association are under captains from the student body. The interest in sports and recreations has been much better this year than it has been in any recent session.

VI. EDUCATION.

It is in strict accordance with the facts to say that we are giving high-grade education to our students. The entrance requirements have been fixed at twelve units, and the college is living up to this standard. The standard is raised in many respects, and the several degrees conferred by the college represent better learning than they did formerly. The point system, authorized by the Board of Trustees under the recommendation of the President of the college last June, has been adopted and is working with great satisfaction. It is an accurate and scientific method of reckoning the work done in the college in its various departments and classes. All of the teachers elected by the Trustees at the meeting last June accepted positions offered them, and in all cases they are giving satisfaction. The President wishes to call special attention to the Sub-Collegiate Department at the college. From the start he felt that it was necessary that there should be a good, strong Sub-Collegiate Department in our Southern college, because our preparatory schools have not yet reached the point in many communities for preparing students sufficiently for entering the Freshman class in our best colleges. Experience has confirmed and deepened that impression. The college has taken a decided step forward this session in strengthening the Sub-Collegiate Department and arranging its work more perfectly departmentally; that is, putting a teacher in charge of all the classes in the same branch of study.

VIII. RELIGION.

A brief word will suffice in referring to the religious influences at the college. Brevity is used, not because it is deemed unimportant, but because a Christian spirit is the vital breath of the institution. All the teachers and officers of the college are devout, conscientious, earnest men and women, standing for the best things in life. The student body is composed almost wholly of Christian girls. The Young Woman's Christian Association is a strong organization with us, having 180 members. In this organization also is embraced a branch of our Baptist State Young Woman's Association, which carries on its usual work correlatively with the Y. W. C. A. This association takes charge of all the public religious work conducted by the students themselves. There is a weekly prayer meeting, with a large attendance, including well nigh all the boarding students. The morning watch, coming immediately before breakfast, is kept up, though with our early breakfast it is difficult to have a large attendance. The chapel hour at 11:30 each day is attended by the entire student body and faculty, and is strongly accented by the President. It is intended that nothing about the college shall receive more earnest attention than this midday gathering of the college family. The President of the college presides, and usually speaks. It is his earnest purpose and endeavor, while making this service pleasant, also to render it instructive and highly inspirational to above four hundred young lives. It is his deep and abiding conviction that the pastorate itself affords no larger opportunity for usefulness in all good things than does the presidency of a college like ours. Returned missionaries, distinguished authors, artists and lecturers, able preachers, resident and visitors, are frequently upon our platform speaking to our young people at this hour.

IX. RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following recommendations are respectfully submitted for consideration of the Board:

1. I recommend that the campaign for raising the hundred thousand dollars, which was authorized by the Baptist State Convention at Greenwood a year ago, be continued for another year, and that proper steps be taken to present this matter to the Convention at its present session for the endorsement and authority of that body. It will be borne in mind that our capable and diligent financial agent, Dr. J. D. Chapman, has been in the field about six months only, and that most of that time has been necessarily spent in working the territory in and around Greenville.

2. That the laundry room at the college be furnished and equipped for use at as early a date as practicable, thus exempting the college from the peril of contagious diseases, which might be introduced by the bringing in of laundry by the colored women, who are now doing the work. If some generous friend could be found to meet the expense of equipping the laundry, it would be a beautiful deed.

3. That the members of the Executive Board at Greenville be commended for their untiring and successful labors in their continued efforts during the period of building and furnishing the college, and that their action in carrying out the instructions of the Board and the Convention be strongly endorsed.

4. That in case it can be done in accordance with the By-Laws, the Executive Committee be enlarged by the addition of two members.

5. That suitable resolutions expressive of appreciation of the generosity of the children of Hon. T. Q. Donaldson in equipping the Science Department of the college be passed and forwarded to the family.

6. That the full Board of Trustees, if practicable, co-operate with the Executive Board in making arrangements to secure a loan of money on the unbonded indebtedness of the institution at a lower rate of interest than is now being paid.

7. That as early as practicable wise and judicious steps be taken to secure help from the northern and eastern part of our country, both from individuals and from organizations that are helping colleges, to raise funds for our institution.

8. That the earnest and intelligent efforts of the alumnæ association and other women friends of the college, in advertising the college, in raising money for the payment of the Orr property, be heartily approved by the Board of Trustees, and also that our women be assured of warm support on the part of the members of this body.

9. That the Board of Trustees keep in mind the necessity of constructing at as early a date as feasible two new buildings, one to be known as the Fine Arts Building, containing gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium, music and practice rooms, art department, expression department, and halls for the literary societies; the other building a thoroughly equipped modern library. Both of these buildings, I think, could be placed between the present West dormitory and Orr residence on the newly acquired Orr property. This arrangement would release space for dormitories in the East building now used for parlors and auditorium for about sixty boarding students, and withal giving us all the necessary equipment for doing high-grade college work for young women for the next two decades. The completion of these plans would put our college, both in the matter of material equipment and in opportunities for doing high grade educational work, in the class with the half dozen best colleges in the South.

Respectfully submitted,
DAVID M. RAMSAY, President.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF THE GREENVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE

Your committee to report on the Greenville Female College beg leave to submit the following:

1. We are highly gratified at the prosperous condition of this institution. The enlarged and improved plant and the correspondingly increased attendance of students must be most pleasing to the Baptists of the State and to all friends of the college. There can no longer be doubt as to the wisdom of the improvements which were authorized by the Convention. The number of students at present and the bright future facing the college are largely the results of increased and better facilities.

2. It is with much pleasure that your committee have heard of the earnest religious life and spirit pervading the college family, its faculty and students. This is as it ought to be, and a condition that should always exist in Christian and denominational schools. Other schools may be worldly and irreligious in spirit and influence, but a denominational college cannot be so and be satisfactory to its constituency as a Christian college. Large endowments and complete material equipment can be no substitute for an institution's Godly life and influence. To secure this and to be sure of this beyond peradventure gives a Christian denomination the right and duty to establish and care for its schools.

3. We heartily endorse the recommendation, and pledge thereto the endorsement and authority of the Convention, to the continued effort for another year of raising the one hundred thousand dollars authorized by the Greenwood Convention. Other educational work South Carolina Baptists may do, and ought to do, but this special effort, already encouragingly begun, must be carried to completion without delay, or else this largest and most useful Baptist school for female education in South Carolina will be imperiled. Until this is done there is real danger that the college may be lost to the Baptists, as many others have been through the years.

We are highly pleased with the action of the Trustees in securing Dr. J. D. Chapman to lead in the effort of raising the one hundred thousand dollars. His notable work as pastor in our State and the important part he had at that time in helping to success a similar undertaking among us led your committee to predict for him, with the co-operation of the brethren and the blessing of God, full success in the present effort. Already he has made a good beginning. We heartily commend him and his important mission to the churches and to Baptist men and women in every part of the State.

Respectfully submitted,
J. A. Brown,
J. K. Hair,
W. M. Whitesides,
M. L. Lawson.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF ANDERSON COLLEGE

Two years ago the citizens of Anderson offered the Convention one hundred thousand dollars and a site for the establishment of a high-grade college in the city of Anderson, under Baptist control. Last year at Greenwood we reported the commencement of building and outlined broadly the general policy of the college. We now have the honor to report the completion of the plant, as contracted for.

In awarding the contract it was deemed wise to omit the interior finish of the third floor of the Administration Building, as well as the glass-enclosed connections from the Administration Building to the dormitories. Shortly before the opening of the college, however, it was found desirable to complete the plant in accordance with the original plan, and the Administration Building was completed throughout.

Subsequently the Ladies' College Association of Anderson guaranteed the cost of the colonnades connecting the buildings, whereupon work was begun, and at this time the connecting cement walks have been finished.

The liberality of friends has contributed to the good showing of the college, notably in provision for the Science Department, gymnasium and colonnades. In other respects, also, the college is largely indebted to the unfailing and hearty support of all citizens of the town and county, the press and the pastors of all denominations.

Most especially would we express our gratitude to Dr. Vines for his loyalty, enthusiasm and co-operation. There has been no call to which the entire community has not responded, and we believe this augurs for the largest success of the college.

We ask your attention to certain details which have been of much concern to us, and which have worked in consonance with our assurances to the Convention and Associations.

The faculty is composed of seventeen men and women and is a body of highly efficient and experienced teachers. It is a truism that technical efficiency alone does not insure pedagogical efficiency, and in the selection of the faculty successful experience elsewhere and inspirational force were prime requisites. We are fortunate in having teachers of proved ability. The majority of the faculty, in all departments, have been successful and highly valued instructors in the best Southern colleges for women and have become imbued with the best Southern traditions. Moreover, the faculty is spiritually minded and ever alert to the religious development of the students. The success of the college to this time speaks tellingly for the devotion and zeal of the teachers.

The furniture of the entire college harmonizes with the interior finish, all being mission. In selecting furniture the committee kept in mind the hard usage given college equipment and sought strength with attractive finish. That they succeeded in their quest is attested by the really handsome and comfortable furnishing of the students' bed rooms. Each room is given two single iron bedsteads, with the best springs, and forty-three pound mattresses, a combination study and library table, arranged with individual writing slides, book shelves and drawers, two large rockers, one straight chair, a dresser and an art square. It will be seen that simplicity, durability and attractiveness are blended throughout.

The college site—thirty-two acres—is unique. Approaching from the boulevard are three terraces until, at an elevation of eighteen feet, there is a level site just large enough for the central building and one dormitory. From each side, and from the front and rear, the land slopes in a succession of low terraces to the limits of the property.

The front campus has already a large number of young trees and affords a handsome stretch to the street. The entire plant conforms to the most modern ideas of construction.

In the main building are offices and parlors at either side of the entrance, while the dining room and kitchen are just beyond and in the rear of the entrance hall. There are ten class rooms, large and well lighted, with five great windows in most of them, the others having six. The library, gymnasium, home economics room, art studio and laboratories are in the front of the building, on the second and third floors; while to the rear of the building, over the dining room and kitchen, are a spacious auditorium and nineteen piano practice rooms. It will be recalled that Anderson College enjoys a distinctive feature in the bath arrangement, the rooms being en suite, with a bath, lavatory and toilet for every two rooms.

The college is connected with the city sewer and has electric lights.

The general policy of the college was outlined in our report to the last Convention. We recognized the drift from the old moorings, that the simplicity of a former generation has been succeeded by multifarious and complex relations.

There are portents of mighty and vital change in woman's field of service, enlarging her sphere, giving her an active part in new relations. This lays the woman's college under the obligation to discern the real transition and fundamental change, as distinguished from the clamor of the minute. Our prayer and hope for Anderson College is that it may keep abreast of all helpful change, that it may foster the spirit of progress, but that above all it may awaken the students to full consciousness of the value of spiritual things; that, with clarity of mind and vigor of body, they may combine true fervor in the cause of humanity and the service of God.

The Board at the outset viewed the establishment of the college as the Convention's acceptance of the express terms of the gift, and has found it gratifying to pitch the college upon a plane of excellence with every representation honestly made and exactly conformed to. It was found necessary at the outset so to fix the rates as to be enabled to provide just what had been represented.

We have the testimony of the students and patrons that in every particular the institution has made fulfillment square with the promise.

At the opening of the college on the 18th day of September seventy-five students matriculated, which number has since been increased to ninety-three. This suggests that there was need for the institution, and we confidently expect to report one hundred and fifty to the next Convention.

The college plant today is easily worth one hundred and sixty-four thousand dollars. The banks of Anderson accept that appraisement.

We do not ask for money at this time, nor for new endorsement of a State-wide campaign for funds; it is our purpose to make a vigorous campaign in Saluda Association, with the endorsement of the Educational Commission, and it is our hope to deliver the college completed and unencumbered to the Baptists of South Carolina, leaving to their wisdom such enlargement as they may determine to be needful. Respectfully submitted,

H. H. Watkins,
President Board of Trustees.

REPORT ON THE REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF ANDERSON COLLEGE

Your committee feels that but little needs to be said upon the report. The report speaks for itself. However, the high note of splendid progress sounded throughout the report is exceedingly gratifying to your committee.

Since last Convention substantial and attractive buildings have been completed and equipped with every appliance for high-grade college work. We note, furthermore, from the report that this the first session of the college is in every way very encouraging. Already the noble ideals in the minds of those who have made possible this school are being realized.

We heartily commend the ambition of the Trustees to complete what their present plans propose, and to turn over to the Baptists of South Carolina the college unencumbered.

Your committee would bespeak for this institution the prayers and sympathetic support of the entire Convention, and recommend that the reasonable request of the Trustees to continue the campaign for funds in the Saluda Association be granted.

E. C. Watson,
J. T. Littlejohn,
J. N. Booth.

REPORT OF THE EDUCATION COMMISSION

Your commission will confine its report this year to those matters which came before it for consideration and action.

COKER COLLEGE.

We wish to place upon the records of the Convention the following statement concerning Coker College:

Coker College for Women, located at Hartsville, S. C., is a Baptist institution worthy of the support and patronage of our people. It has an ample campus with six buildings, including two dormitories, gymnasium, a handsome new administration building and auditorium, residence for the President and home for the Music Director. All these buildings are well equipped and are heated by a new central heating plant lately installed at a cost of about $15,000. The real property is estimated to be worth $150,000 and is absolutely free from any mortgage or debt of any kind. The college has an endowment aggregating $165,000 available for the current expenses. This college is owned and controlled by a group of Baptist Associations in the eastern and southern part of the State. All the Trustees of Coker College are Baptists, and by the provisions of the charter each of these affiliating Associations nominates representatives for the Board of Trustees. The college property, under the terms of the charter, belongs to the Trustees, and the income from the endowment, $150,000 of which is held by a committee of Trustees, is also placed at the disposal of the management of the college.

It is proper for us to recognize with grateful appreciation the manifest prosperity and rapid growth of this new college for girls, and commend the progressive spirit and enthusiasm of its friends who are supporting it.

We commend this institution for its place and work in the cause of Christian education and recognize its special claims for the loyal and continued support of those Associations affiliated in its ownership and control, and on whom must rest the chief responsibility for its financial support and its future prosperity and development.

THE PROPOSITION FROM SEIVERN.

The following proposition came before the commission from Seivern:

We, the undersigned, hereby authorize T. H. Posey to offer you 250 acres of land at Seivern, S. C., for the purpose of establishing a Baptist Academy, and we also have a subscription of $1,000, which we consider good, to place at the disposal of the commission for buildings and equipment.

JOHN I. SALLEY,
F. O. GUNTER,
LEE GUNTER,
MAT GUNTER.

The proposition to establish this academy has the endorsement of Aiken and Lexington Associations, and possibly of the Edisto. Your commission recommends that the Convention appoint a committee, consisting of W. M. Jones and the chairman of the commission, to visit Seivern, look into the question of the advisability of establishing such an academy and report to the commission, and that the commission be empowered to act in the matter.

ANDERSON COLLEGE.

The trustees of Anderson College reported that it was their purpose to conduct in Saluda Association a vigorous campaign for funds for the institution.

This campaign received the hearty endorsement of the commission, and we recommend that the Convention authorize this canvass for money for Anderson College within the bounds of Saluda Association.

THE GREENVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE.

The trustees of Greenville Female College reported that it had been impossible for them to complete within 1912 their canvass for $100,000 to meet the bonded indebtedness of the institution, and requested that the commission endorse their purpose to continue to make through 1913 a State-wide canvass for funds to complete the campaign.

The commission endorsed the further prosecution of this canvass and recommend that the Convention authorize the Greenville Female College to prosecute their campaign in the State as requested during 1913, if so much time be necessary to raise the remainder of the $100,000.

CONCLUSION.

Because of the imperative and pressing need of the Greenville Female College, the commission will not bring before the Convention for its consideration other educational undertakings for this coming year; but it would say to the Convention that it has in no wise lost sight of the vast educational problems before us, and hope to report at the Convention of 1913 a denominational educational survey of South Carolina.

REPORT ON WOMAN'S WORK

No one can study our Baptist women's work in this State and not be interested and profited. Ten years of organized work under the form of the W. M. U. have resulted in more efficiency and yet not less loyalty to our churches and the Convention. The greatest year of the ten has just closed. The proceedings of their annual meeting, as reported in the Baptist Courier, was an inspiration. They raised for all purposes during the year $43,754.31.

It is a matter of thanksgiving that while some women in our great country are so anxious about their political rights, our women are deeply concerned about their Christian obligations. Their great thought and controling desire is the coming of the kingdom of our Lord. Our Christian women are demonstrating that the Christ-life is the greatest ornament that can adorn society.

I mentioned above some figures showing the amount of money raised during the past year. But this is only a small part of what they have accomplished. They have done a large educational work. The men are too busy to study Missions, but not so with these women. This much can be truthfully said—a pastor must study Missions to keep up with his women. Then the training of the young in their various societies is truly educational. Their work is deeply spiritual as well as broadly educational. Their monthly meetings and their special weeks of prayer and study are levers in the building up of the spiritual life of the churches.

This Convention has always encouraged woman's work. It has always been regarded as a blessing to our churches and pastors, and we now heartily endorse the present organized form. The ten years of history which has been made by the W. M. U. have been marked by perfect unity and great efficiency. We entreat every pastor to help these women who labor with us in the gospel.

Your committee would urge the Treasurer of the W. M. U. in reporting to the Treasurers of the different Boards to state the amounts that pass through her hands, crediting these amounts to the respective churches and Associations giving them; otherwise the Boards will not be able to properly credit such gifts.

RUFUS FORD.

REPORT ON FOREIGN MISSIONS FOR THE SOUTH CAROLINA BAPTIST CONVENTION

Our ultimate authority for Missions, Home and Foreign, is the New Testament. In it we find it recorded that Jesus said, "The field is the world. He also said to His disciples, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel. This command is based on man's universal need of salvation, on Christ's power to save, and on His right to direct the activity of those who have yielded allegiance unto Him. God's kingdom has been established on the earth, having come, not with observation, but manifesting itself in the hearts and lives of men. Christ is the King to whom has been given all authority in heaven and in earth. He taught His disciples to pray, "Thy kiugdom come; thy will be done in earth even as it is in heaven." To really pray this prayer is both to do His will ourselves and to go to the uttermost part of the earth, even unto Africa, China, Japan, and the islands of the sea, proclaiming His will, the doing of which has produced, and will produce, heavenly conditions in this world, though cursed by sin.

The field is the world, which is even now white unto harvest. Geographically the world has been conquered, nearly every part of it having been explored and mapped. The world is known today, with its varied population of seventeen hundred millions, and is open to the missionary and the Word of God as never before in its history. All the world needs Christ. We have Christ, and as the greatest blessing we can give, we owe Christ to the world. To have the truth and conceal it, to know our duty and refuse to do it, is sin. Our enlarged knowledge and opportunity greatly increase our responsibility, making each of us his brother's keeper to the extent of giving him the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Our Foreign Mission Board, for lack of men and means, has not yet been able to realize its ideal, giving the whole Gospel to the whole world, but it is pressing its work with this end in view, with the means at its command, and with sublime faith in Him who said "Go," and "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Our meagre gifts have made it necessary for "Prudence," as Dr. Gordon said, "to sit over against the treasury, watching the expenditures to see that Faith did not overdraw her account." We are, however, in no inconsiderable way, doing work in pagan and papal fields as follows: Pagan fields, Africa, China and Japan; papal, Italy, Mexico, Brazil and Argentina. Careful analysis of heathen religions reveals the fact that they are lacking in truth, in saving and transforming power, and in power to nourish the soul and satisfy man's deepest need. Hence our effort to give the heathen a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. But why missions to papal fields? One of our missionaries to Brazil says: "Catholics have no spiritual life to be deepened. The people of Brazil are as completely lost as those of Africa or China. A soul without Christ is lost, and Brazilian Catholics are without Christ in heart and life." This doubtless expresses the truth for all our papal fields.

The work of the Board during the past Convention year was glorious in results. Dr. Willingham said in his report: "Our representatives at the front write back of many more converts and baptisms than in any year of our history." Last year our missionaries baptized 4,300 converts on the various fields, nearly a thousand more than the whole number of Christians on all our fields in 1895, after the Board had been at work for fifty years! Is not God calling to us in His blessing upon our work, blessing beyond that which we have been able to ask or think?

During the year the Board collected and expended the sum of $580,000. Of this amount South Carolina Baptists contributed $51,000, of which the W. M. U. gave one-third, or $17,000. In its employ the Board has 268 foreign and 477 native workers. It reports 342 churches and 826 out-stations, with a church membership of 24,689; 422 Sunday Schools, with an attendance of about 15,000, and 227 day schools, with an attendance of more than 6,000. Two of these schools, one in China and the other in Brazil, are of college grade and have an attendance of 262; ten are theological seminaries, with a combined student body of 245; nine are women's training schools, with an attendance of 312.

School work is a most important feature of the missionary enterprise. Many converts come from the schools. And those in a position to know facts say that the problem of foreign missions today is one of adequately training native converts to take up the work and carry it forward without the aid of foreign assistants.

The churches are encouraged by the missionaries to become self-sustaining as early as possible. Fifteen have already reached the point of self-support. The churches and missionaries contributed to the work last year nearly $78,000. Home Mission work has been organized in one of the Chinese Associations, and both Home and State Mission Boards have been organized in one Association in Brazil. This is work in the right direction. Encouraging self-support, it develops the missionary spirit and provides a base of supplies within each field for its own evangelization and that of adjacent territory.

Southern Baptists have thirteen medical missionaries on the field. They treated last year more than 51,000 patients, directing the work of six hospitals and thirteen dispensaries. Each patient heard a portion of the Word of God read and explained. Dr. T. O. Hearn says: "My mission to the Chinese is not to heal their diseases primarily, but to use this as a means of bringing them to the beloved Physician who died for them."

Publication work on the field affords another effective means of disseminating the truths of the gospel, and giving converts spiritual culture. Missionary J. L. Hart says: "A tract is a missionary's wedge." Portions of the Scriptures, a great number of religious tracts, and a few Baptist books and periodicals have been published and distributed. Rev. W. E. Entzminger, of Brazil, says of the Baptist Journal, published there: "It is undoubtedly the greatest single factor in our denominational life." Several strong books, as Dr. Mullins' "Axioms of Religion," Dr. Sampey's "Heart of the Old Testament," and Harvey's "Church" are being translated into a few of the native languages for publication.

All these means have been wonderfully blessed of God to the saving of the lost, and the missionaries are greatly encouraged despite the fact that they have encountered adverse conditions in flood and famine, pestilence and war, and disturbed social and political conditions. Their forces have also been much weakened in the removal by death of some of our oldest and most faithful workers. The places made vacant in their ranks must be filled; and while there is great need of larger gifts and more numerous givers, it is still our duty and privilege to pray the Lord of the harvest that He send forth laborers into His harvest.

The woeful lack of facilities with which to do their work has been a retarding cause which we cannot afford to longer overlook. The need for church houses and chapels, school buildings and equipment, hospitals and furnishings, printing plants, and homes for missionaries and their families is no less than imperative. According to a careful estimate of these needs, the million and a quarter dollars to be raised in three years in celebration of the Judson Centennial will put the work on a fairly good basis.

The deepest need at home is the realization on the part of each Christian of his personal responsibility to God in this matter. The individual should come out from his hiding place behind the denomination or the local church and enter into his own privilege and assume his own share of the responsibility. Every Christian should feel that missions is his supreme work.

The Bible is the best book on foreign or any other kind of missions; and a revival of Bible study with a view to learning our duty in this important matter would be most helpful to us and to the work. But there are other sources of information indispensable today. The Foreign Mission Journal, the medium of communication between the missionaries and ourselves, tells us what God is doing today among the nations of the earth. This excellent monthly magazine should go into every Baptist home within the bounds of the Southern Baptist Convention. The State denominational papers also give much information with reference to our foreign mission work. Tracts, in any number desired, will be furnished free for distribution by the Foreign Mission Board. Books of missionary effort and achievement, rich with information and full of inspiration, will also be furnished by the Board at reasonable prices. The missionary training classes, under the direction of Dr. T. B. Ray, Educational Secretary, are beginning to bear rich fruit. This is a most important department of the work at home.

Is it not time that our Southern Baptist Zion awake from her sleep of ignorance and indifference, shake herself from the dust of her inactivity, clothe herself in the garments of humility and holiness, sit upon the throne of her privilege and power, and put on her strength for the one supreme task of bringing the world to Christ?

This great field of opportunity, of blessing and of promise, is before us; yea, it is beckoning to us to come in and occupy it. "Let us go up at once and possess it"; for, with our wealth in money and in men consecrated and cultured, and God with us, "we are well able to overcome it." Respectfully submitted,

J. W. H. Dyches, Chairman,
For Committee.

JUDSON CENTENNIAL

Whereas, The Southern Baptist Convention, at its last meeting, called upon the denomination to raise within the next three (3) years one million, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($1,250,000), to be known as "The Judson Centennial Fund," for educational and general equipment purposes in foreign lands—two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) of this sum to be spent upon the publication of Christian literature, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) upon church buildings, missionaries' homes and hospitals, and eight hundred thousand dollars ($800,000) upon the equipment of our foreign mission schools. This fund is to be distinct from and in addition to the regular annual income of the Foreign Mission Board, and the subscriptions are to be taken within three (3) years.

Whereas, It appears to us most fitting that we so celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the sailing of Adoniram Judson, the first American foreign missionary, and his subsequent acceptance of our Baptist faith; and,

Whereas, Recent detailed investigations conducted by the Foreign Mission Board reveal the most urgent need of this amount of money, and more:

Resolved, That we give to this movement our heartiest endorsement and pledge to the Foreign Mission Board and to Dr. T. B. Ray, who has been set apart to lead in this effort, our fullest and most enthusiastic co-operation.

Resolved, That we call upon our pastors and all our people to throw themselves into the raising of this money with a zeal that is commensurate with the vast and distressingly urgent needs and to facilitate in every way possible the efforts of the special workers in behalf of this mighty movement.

Z. T. Cody,
State Committeeman.

REPORT ON HOME MISSIONS

Dr. Strong has said, "The speedy salvation of the lost in America is the supreme achievement in the missionary strategy which looks to the evangelization of the world." And Dr. Austin Phelps has said, "Wisdom should lead us to look on the United States as, first and foremost, the chosen seat for the enterprise of the world's conversion. Forecasting the future of Christianity as a statesman forecasts the destiny of nations, we must believe that it will be what the future of this country is to be. As goes America, so goes the world in all its moral welfare." In our efforts, therefore, to save America we have set our hands to the greatest possible task which can command our Christian energy and effort. And when we take stock of religious conditions which prevail in the homeland and face the spiritual conditions which now exist in the United States, the problem truly becomes a gigantic one. With a population of more than ninety-two millions and only about twenty millions of these accredited to evangelical denominations, while considerably more than half of our population makes no religious profession, it can be readily seen that it is only by courtesy that we can claim this as a Christian nation. With 80% of our population at the North and 69% of it at the South not alligned with any evangelical denomination, we can readily see that we have here a task which must command our best efforts.

So far as Baptists are concerned in their united efforts, this tremendous task has been assigned to the Home Mission Board. And nobly is this Board grappling with the gigantic task committed to it. Year by year its work has grown in volume, and that its efforts have been crowned with the blessings of God no one who knows the record of its achievements can doubt. The greatest problem which has faced the Board has been that of trying to supply the crying needs of its field, which year by year call for manifold more of funds than Southern Baptists are anually putting into its treasury. And yet it is gratifying to note that there has been a marked increase in our gifts to this Board in recent years. This will be readily apparent when it is called to our attention that we gave more than four and one-half times as much for home missions last year as we were giving ten years ago. And yet we shall need for some time to come to increase our gifts in as great a ratio as we did in the last ten years, if we are to meet the problems which are upon us.

This Board is our denominational equalizer, seeking to equalize missionary responsibility and to distribute denominational power, so as to press the work to every man's door and in times of emergency to concentrate our combined energies upon difficult situations. And what it has accomplished in these directions eternity alone will reveal. But if any of us are inclined to think that the home mission task has been finished we need only to have it called to our attention, after forty-seven years of splendid service, that there are now two and one-half times as many people in our territory who make no profession to religion as there were of all classes of people in the South in 1845, when this agency was called into existence.

For the better solving of its many problems and the adequate performance of its complex tasks the Board has assigned its work to different departments, which can only be mentioned very briefly in the limits of this report.

Of its co-operative work nearly three-fourths is now done in the States west of the Mississippi river, and there is now none of this work done in many of the older States. The ideal for each individual State is that it shall become strong enough to do its own local missionary work through its own State Mission Board, and thus leave the Home Board to devote its efforts more fully to the special problems which confront it.

In the Department of Mountain Schools there are now thirty-three of these institutions, with an annual enrollment of more than 5,500 students, of which number there are about eighty young men in training for the gospel ministry. Of these schools three are in South Carolina. That every dollar which Southern Baptists have put into this work has drawn out to its aid five dollars from local surroundings is certainly a very gratifying showing. And when it is realized that perhaps, with one or two exceptions, not one of these schools would now be in operation but for the help of the Home Board and the initiative and wisdom of its Mountain School Superintendent, Dr. A. E. Brown, the results are truly gratifying.

The Department of Evangelism is growing in size and the success of its operations year by year. In this force there are now some twenty-two trained evangelists, whose labors last year resulted in adding 5,338 names to the rolls of our churches, which is the largest showing that the department has ever made. Suffice it to say that this department has long since proved its right to exist.

In Cuba and the Canal Zone the Home Board is doing work which is essentially foreign mission work; especially is this true in Cuba. In Cuba we have a membership of 1,565 in twenty-four churches, and thirty-four Sunday Schools with a combined enrollment of 1,764. The Cuban work is reported to be in excellent condition in every way. The work in the Canal Zone is, in the nature of the case, very difficult and must be temporary in its nature, but it is much needed and the results are as large as the volume of the work could reasonably justify us in expecting.

To the work among the Negroes the Board has appropriated $15,000 this year and, in co-operation with the National Convention, thirty-five Negro missionaries are being employed to work among their own people. The Board is also helping in a limited way to employ theological instructors in certain Negro schools. This limited investment among 10,000,000 blacks who live at our very doors is entirely inadequate, but is producing gratifying results.

For the foreigners who are annually coming among us at the rate of a million a year, but who have in no large numbers as yet found their way into the South. the Board is gradually enlarging its work. It is gratifying to know that of the immigrants who annually come to the United States that at least forty per cent. of them return to their native lands. In these returning immigrants we have a splendid opportunity to do a most effective foreign missionary work, and on a scale much larger than we can ever expect to do it by sending out missionaries to foreign lands. God has sent the heathen to our very doors to receive Christian impressions, and now they are returning to their own lands to witness for our Christ or against Him. The Home Board has fifty missionaries working among people of foreign speech in the South.

The Home Board also has three independent missions to the Indians in Oklahoma, in which seven missionaries are employed. In addition to these independent missions there is also a co-operative work being done.

The Publicity Department of the Board is worthy of special commendation for the publication of a splendid Home Mission literature. In the Home Field we have the best Home Mission monthly in America, and to South Carolinians it ought to be gratifying that it is the product of one of our own men. In addition to many most valuable tracts, the Board has this year issued a book of three hundred and thirty-one pages, entitled "The Home Mission Task," which we heartily commend to all our pastors and people.

In the Church Building Loan Fund of the Board we have perhaps its most urgent need. Southern Baptists have more unhoused churches than any other religious body in America. Of these there are no less than 3,000. The last Southern Baptist Convention, realizing the crying need for help in the way of providing buildings for struggling churches, instructed the Board to set about rasing a Church Building Loan Fund of $1,000,000. It is estimated that the Board will need to aid 300 churches a year, as the need may arise, in addition to helping the 3,000 homeless churches which have been mentioned already. For such demands the loan fund of $1,000,000 is not too much. It must be remembered that gifts to this object must be in addition to the regular home mission work. Your committee would urge the serious consideration of this matter by this Convention, to the end that this demand may be adequately placed before the constituency of this Convention, and that we pledge ourselves to do our part in this great undertaking.

The newest department of home mission endeavor is that of Enlistment and Co-operation. The need for it is found in the fact that there are probably ten thousand of our churches which give nothing for the support of the Kingdom of God outside of their own communities. This department, through the activities of men specially assigned to this task, looks to the enlistment of these churches and the larger development of our backward people in Christian life and service. With eighty per cent. of our Baptist constituency in the country or in towns of less than 2,500 people, and many of these churches having preaching services but once a month by pastors whose residences are at a distance from their churches, it is not to be wondered at that we have so many people who have failed to keep step with the denominational life and progress. In past years we have given more attention to evangelism than we have to development

We have not obeyed all of the commandment of the Lord. We have sought to make disciples, but we have not tried as diligently to teach them "to observe all things" which our Lord commanded. Like Paul, we have not heretofore made diligent and sympathetic effort in the direction of "establishing" the churches. This new department now undertakes this task. The work is one which calls for consecrated tact and demands patience, for it will take time to accomplish the task to which the Board has laid its hand. Your committee would commend the action of the Board in securing Dr. Arch. C. Cree to undertake the direction of this difficult work and would bespeak for him the sympathy and co-operation of all the brethren.

The Board last year raised and expended $366,050 and had in its employ 1,309 missionaries. These missionaries constituted 201 churches and reported 26,899 baptisms. For this work South Carolina Baptists contributed $31,468.89. The work is laid out this year on a basis of $412,000, and of this amount $35,000 is apportioned to South Carolina. If we give what is expected of us we must give more liberally than we did last year, in addition to what we shall do for the Building Loan Fund.

In concluding this report, let us say that for the hastening of the coming of the Kingdom of God, not only in America, but in the whole world, we believe that we have no more efficient agency than the Home Mission Board, nor is there one to which has been assigned greater tasks. We heartily commend the Board and its agents and its pleas for co-operation and help to the careful and prayerful consideration of all our people. Respectfully submitted, Edw. S. Reaves,
L. S. Barrett.

REPORT ON TEMPERANCE

The use of intoxicating drinks is destructive to the house we live in, degenerating the brain tissues and prostituting the moral nature of succeeding generations.

Paul admonishes the brethren at Corinth (I. Cor. 9:25-27) to be "temperate in all things." Peter lays temperance down as one of the seven cardinal principles of a pure and high Christian life (II. Peter 1:6). It might be well in these days of banqueting and subsequent cases of acute indigestion for our Baptist people to heed Solomon's proverbial admonition (Prov. 23:1) and to learn the decree of Jehovah against those who will not respect nor obey His unchangeable laws of living. (See Deut. 28.)

In these latter days the term "Temperance" is restricted to the habitual use of alcoholic drinks, either in moderate or excessive quantities. Once, within the memory of some of our brethren, regular alcoholic drinking was not only considered permissable, but, in many instances, a medical necessity. Later intelligent investigation disclosed the fact that alcohol was a real poison to the human body, and that by its constant use it at last "biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." Millions of human beings are annually victims, and as many souls go into outer darkness from drink. "For no drunkard shall inherit the kingdom of God." (Cor. 6:10.)

Baptists, in many instances, have fallen short in their opportunity of utilizing the special design in their redemption of manifesting the divine presence in their daily walk, words and deeds. The men of the world have almost lost confidence in the teachings of the Gospel, because church members often act more like people of the underworld and are difficult to distinguish from the worldly sons of Belial in very many instances. The lives of many, very many church members, in their views and ways of doing, especially in their intemperate habits in eating and drinking, associations, affiliations, conduct and voting, do not commend them, in the eyes of the world, as discreet children of God. By their voice and vote they encourage the indiscriminate use of strong drinks and encourage the traffic of liquors through dispensaries owned by the public, thereby requiring God-fearing men, Christian citizens, zealous of good work, who own property and pay taxes, to become a partner in a forbidden business which he personally repudiates. This ought not so to be. The cause of temperance is too sacred to be thus hindered. Temperance is a divine command, not only to advocate, but to live. The Holy Spirit can use only such Christians as separate themselves from the ways of the wold and consecrate their lives to the service of Him who delivered them from the dominion of sin; only those who bring their bodies under subjection by denying their appetites, who eschew strong drinks and keep themselves from all filthiness—including the filthy tobacco habit.

The statistical reports show an alarming increase in the manufacture and use of alcoholic drinks, although the territory over which prohibition laws operate is rapidly widening. It is a compliment to the State of South Carolina, the territory represented in this Convention, that is reported by the Anti-Saloon League as 85 per cent. dry territory, while the average per cent. throughout the United States is 71 per cent., putting this State 14 per cent. above the average.

While much is made of the statistical report that the consumption of intoxicating beverages has increased in the United States since the year 1910, care is taken not to disclose the real facts in the case, namely, that that increase is wholly chargeable to the States where license granted by the State and cities make the saloon business legal; and that in the nine States of the Union which have prohibition laws the consumption decreased 54 per cent. in the year 1910; and that in the State of New York, where licensed saloons exist, the increase was 30 per cent. In the nine prohibition States in 1910 the consumption of alcoholic liquors in the United States during the same year was 21.86 gallons per person. The prohibition of the United States consumed less than one ninety-fifth of the intoxicating liquors drank in this country. That is, the people living in the "wet" territory drink, per capita, more than fifteen times as much as those living in the "dry" territory. Notwithstanding the santic claim that "prohibition does not prohibit," the area of territory over which anti-drinking legislation is in operation is steadily increasing and the consumption of strong drinks is as steadily decreasing. The rate per cent. of crime is greater and increasing in the "wet" or liquor traffic sections; while in the "dry" or prohibition sections crime is decreasing. The work of education in the public schools, high schools and academies and colleges of "dry" territory is progressing more satisfactorily and building up a more substantial foundation for the upbuilding of society and a higher standard and stronger civil government of the States than in the liquor dealing and drinking sections.

In the city of Charleston, this State, which, by the way, has a record of homicides next highest of the cities of the United States—being 159 in the years 1901 to 1910, or 27.7 rate per 1,000,000 population—has increased in the year 1911 to 25 homicides, 42.3 per 1,000,000 population, which is an increase rate of 14.6 per cent. The city and county of Charleston are "wet" and prohibition does not prohibit there because the people are not in sympathy with temperance, and public sentiment is opposed to reasonable enforcement of the statutes. The drinking shops, whenever allowed, and of whatever class or kind, always increase the crime.

What shall we say then to the Baptist churches in the State of South Carolina? That homicides shall be increased and increased, crimes tolerated and degeneracy suffered in order that whiskey drinking may abound, with exercise of a perverted notion of "personal rights?" God forbid.

The time is at hand when every Baptist child of God is called upon by his Lord and his Christ to take their stand against the manufacture, traffic and use of alcoholic drinks as a beverage—Satan's most virulent agent in the degeneracy and destruction of the human family, the terrible demoralizer of society and the organized churches.

To this end they should fight as individual soldiers of the cross, as God's servants and persons for the manifesting of the work of the Holy Spirit in the purification of their own daily lives, that they may be taught the power of Christ in destroying the works of the devil.

With the success achieved, let us as Baptists of South Carolina press the victory of a speedy State-wide prohibition. JOHN BOMAR.

REPORT ON LITERATURE

The Home Field has for its mission the keeping of our people informed as to the work in the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention. It has been doing its work well and richly deserves a much larger patronage.

The Foreign Mission Journal, as its name indicates, is devoted to our work in foreign lands. Its work is so well known that it needs no explanation in this report. We need to extend much more widely the circulation of both of these periodicals. This is their most pressing need just now. Our people have always been loyal to these two journals; but we ought to have in circulation in this State ten or fifteen times as many copies as we now have. We believe the best way to secure a larger increase in the number of subscribers is to appeal to the individual personally and privately, with careful explanations and with a liberal use of sample copies. We need more pride in our denominational literature.

The Baptist Courier continues to serve the brethren and the various interests of the denomination. It gives the news of the Baptist doings and its space is devoted entirely to their welfare. It has been a great factor in our growth in numbers and spirituality; it has contributed greatly to our unity and soundness in teaching; it has been a means of mutual exchange of rich and valuable thought, and it has been a great source of deep, varied and spiritual culture. It has helped to give the denomination a higher sense of dignity and self-respect, both in and out of the State. Such has been and is now its function. On the ground of its real merits, we could heartily wish to see its subscription list so largely increased that our people might be more widely reached and that its managers might be able to make any improvements which their growing ideals and the possible demands of the times might deem advisable. The Courier has done far more for us than we have done for it. The paper takes all the financial risks and all the responsibility of management, and puts all its great wealth of ideas within our reach for a very small and reasonable amount. If we could increase its circulation some ten or twentyfold we would be approaching an ideal relation between this paper and the churches. This Convention has in it a vast amount of culture, and it ought more largely to find expression through this paper. In every sense we ought to help to make the paper all that any reasonable man could imagine it ought to be.

In the movement of events and in our present condition we need a fresh, wise, sweet-spirited and careful indoctrination of our people. We have passed through a period of carelessness on this point, but we need to wake out of our sleep. It is to be hoped that we shall not use a bitter and rough method in this respect, such as was used some years ago in some places; but the facts of the Bible on baptism, the Lord's Supper, discipline, church government, and other topics need to be placed before our people, not in such a way as to arouse hostility, but so as to enlist interest and produce deep spiritual impressions. The time has arrived, therefore, for books, tracts and magazine articles of suitable nature to be scattered broadcast all over our entire territory. This report commends the publications of our Sunday School Board, its books as well as its Sunday School papers.

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE STATE B. Y. P. U.

1. Gratifying progress has been made in the past year in the number of new Unions formed, although it has taken place almost spontaneously on the part of their framers. The Executive Committee, on account of the urgency of other duties, has been unable to carry on an aggressive campaign in this respect. While several of the Unions have been discontinued, the number of new ones quite makes up the deficiency.

2. But it is in respect to actual B. Y. P. U. work that the Unions have made their greatest progress within the past year. The young people's meeting is becoming more and more the place where beginners are to take their first steps in Christian service, and less and less a place of social pleasures, or for the local or imported orator to harangue the young folk with spellbinding perorations! We hope the pastors will encourage and assist in this effort to utilize, train and develop the young people, many of whom have not initiative enough to carve out a training for themselves, but who would become greatly useful if they were supplied with the conveniences for their growth in usefulness and power of achievement.

3. For this progress we consider the standard for grading for the State banner chiefly responsible. It incorporates most of the features of the Standard of Excellence for the B. Y. P. U., and in addition such other merits as have a local value, such as taking or reading The Baptist Courier. At the last B. Y. P. U. Convention, on the basis of the standard, the banner was awarded to the Union of the First Church of Darlington. Besides the Darlington Union, the Union of the Tabernacle Church of Columbia has met all the requirements of the Standard of Excellence.

4. The next annual Convention of the Baptist Young People is to be held at Cheraw, February 18th to 20th, 1913.

J. D. Moore, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SYSTEMATIC GIVING

Your committee appointed last year at Greenwood to suggest some plan of systematic giving met at Columbia on October 19, 1912. Eight of the twelve brethren appointed were present, together with three visitors, who rendered valuable help. After several hours of deliberation, the committee reached unanimously the following conclusions:

1. That no schedule of offerings could possibly be made that would be practicable in all the churches, and therefore no schedule could meet the financial demands made upon our people.

2. That the haphazard method now in vogue in so many of our churches is disastrous alike to the highest development of the churches in their financial policies and to the various enterprises fostered by the denomination.

3. That nothing short of a sane business and scriptural policy can meet the demands and develop the churches. The committee believes that such a policy is possible and workable in all our churches, both city and country.

4. That the exigencies of the case are so serious that it behooves all our pastors and other church workers and leaders to give earnest prayer and effort to the inauguration of some plan of systematic giving.

We, therefore, recommend:

1. That the churches now employing the schedule of offerings adopted some years ago abolish that plan and adopt the one herein recommended.

2. That the plan known as the Budget Plan be adopted in each church in the State. The Budget Plan is simply this: As early as possible in December of each year let each church learn, through its financial committee, the amount of money to be raised:

(a) For its own current expenses, pastor's salary, etc.

(b) For meeting its obligations to missions and benevolence, according to the apportionment of the Executive Committee of its Association.

Having ascertained the sum required to meet these obligations, let the finance committee apportion it among the several members of the church, each church deciding on the best manner of collecting these apportionments, whether through envelopes or committee, or both.

3. We recommend that each church, according to its individual convenience or expediency, seek to raise these amounts weekly, monthly or quarterly, and that quarterly payments be made to each object fostered by the denomination.

Likewise, since many churches, especially those in the towns, can raise money as readily in the summer as in the winter, as salaried men receive the same pay from month to month, and since it seems true that this is not the case in the country churches; therefore, in such cases we recommend that the raising of the budget be as follows:

One-third in January, February and March.

One-sixth in April, May and June.

One-sixth in July, August and September.

One-third in October, November and December.

4. Since system and co-operation are of paramount importance, we recommend the following:

That the total sum raised in each church for missions and benevolence be so divided as to conform to the apportionment adopted by the State Convention; that is, if Foreign Missions is to receive $60,000 and State Missions $40,000, that the division of the total sum collected in each church be as 6 and 4.

5. We recommend and earnestly urge upon all our people that serious thought be given the dignity and exceeding worthiness of our Master's cause. Christian people everywhere make provision in their daily lives for their servants' hire, paying them by the week or month. Surely they ought to put the Master's cause upon as high plane—certainly it should be put no lower.

6. We recommend that the treasurers of the churches be urged:

(a) To send on promptly funds collected, whether small or great.

(b) That all receipts for money sent be read by the treasurer or pastor to the church, so that our people may know that the money they give has gone to its object, and also know whether their gift is small or great. Such a course will give confidence to the people and keep constantly before them the objects fostered by the denomination. It will also give our pastors occasion and justification for instructing the people in brief statements, as receipts are read, and will present a good opportunity for urging them to greater liberality.

7. We further recommend: Should this report be adopted, that the Secretary be instructed to have printed sufficient copies of same, and also that he be instructed to send copies to each pastor in the State and to the chairman of each executive committee.

W. T. Derieux, Chairman,
For the Committee.

THE RESIGNATION OF C. K. HENDERSON

Aiken, S. C., November 27, 1912.

W. H. Hunt, Esq., President Baptist State Convention, Newberry, S. C.

My Dear Brother:—I find that it will be impossible for me to serve longer as a member of the Board of Trustees of Furman University, and I write you with request that you please hand this letter to the chairman of the Committee on Nominations for that Board in order that should they think of considering my name, they may know my wishes in the matter.

I became a member of the Board of Trustees in the year of 1889, and have served continuously in that capacity from that time to the present, a period of 23½ years; so that at this time I am, in point of service, the oldest member of the Board, Mr. Henry P. McGee being the next in line. When I was elected the following brethren composed the Board: President, T. P. Smith; Secretary, G. G. Wells; J. A. W. Thomas, Julius C. Smith, J. A. Hoyt, John Stout, E. B. Murray, A. B. Woodruff, G. A. Norwood, R. B. Watson, R. W. Sanders, E. C. Dargan and myself. All of these good brethren, with the exception of the last four named, have gone to live in "the new city." The equipment of the University in those days was meager indeed; we had the main building, the President's home and the dormitory, known as Griffith Hall. Many long, dark years stretch between that period and the present and, though our beloved University today is still far from possessing what she deserves, yet a comparison of her present condition; the beautiful campus, the imposing buildings, the excellent equipment, the endowment, the large and able faculty and large student body, all these make her appear rich to what was the condition when I became a Trustee. This splendid advance has been possible only through the wisdom, the devotion and the sacrifices of our people. In the years gone it was the usual thing at each meeting of the Board for its members to find it necessary for them to make personal contributions to sustain the work; but those days are past—we have reached the crown of the hill.

Twenty-three years ago the able Dr. Chas. Manley occupied the President's chair; then came the optimistic Dr. A. P. Montague, and he was succeeded by our loved and honored Dr. E. M. Poteat, under whose able administration the University is fast finding new power, place and honor. A splendid faculty nobly sustains him; while the student body is larger than ever in the history of the school.

I have served the University to the best of my ability through many long years; years crowded with darkness, toil and discouragements; and now, when the burden and heat of the day are so largely gone, now when success has come, I feel that I may retire.

I decline to stand for re-election because I am convinced that younger and more active men should be at the helm; more of the enthusiastic and capable alumni should serve in this capacity; and also because it is increasingly difficult for me to attend the meetings and discharge the duties pertaining thereto.

As I close, permit me to say that, with all the burdens involved, it has been a source of great profit to me to have had the privilege of serving the University all these years; to have worked side by side with so many of the noble Christian men of the State who have been Trustees of Furman University.

With many good wishes for you, my dear Brother Hunt, and for the great school to which I have given so many years of my life, I am,

Very cordially yours,

C. K. HENDERSON.

RESOLUTIONS ON ABOVE

Resolved, That this letter of resignation be printed in the Minutes of the Convention.

2. That we gratefully recognize Brother Henderson's long, faithful and wise services to Furman University; and would put on record our appreciation of his liberal contributions of time, money and thought from the time he became a member of the Board, twenty-three years ago.

C. E. BURTS.

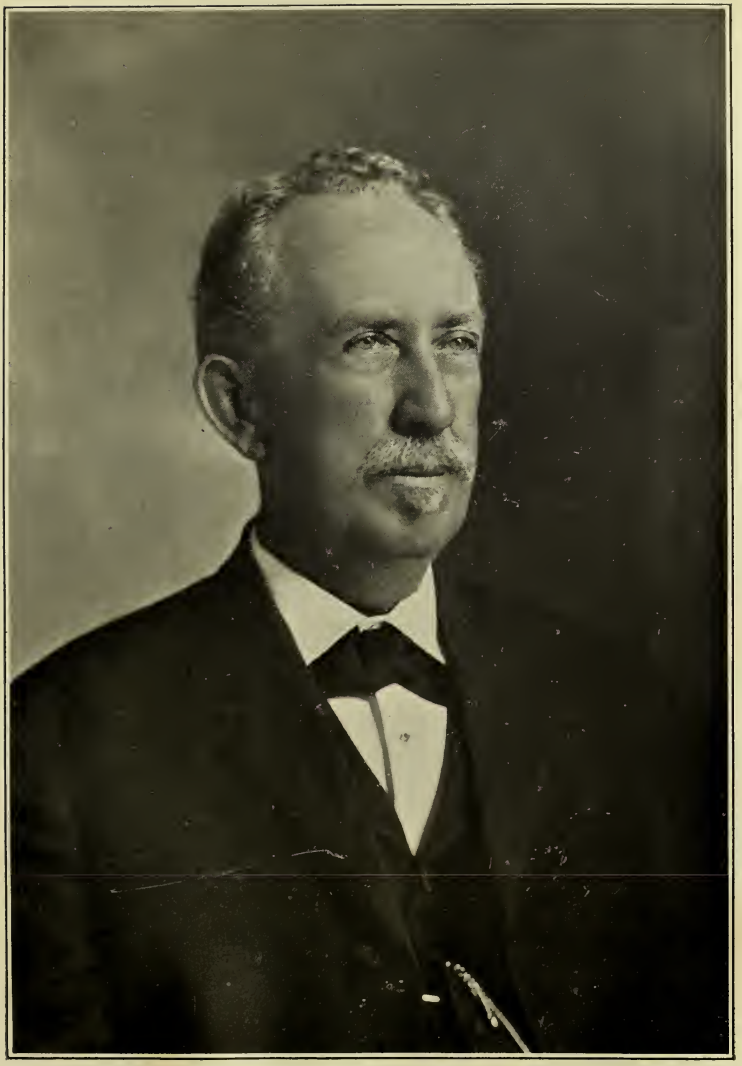
REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SANITARIUM

The committee to which was referred the resolution "to consider the advisability of establishing a sanitarium by this body" begs to file the following report:

The committee began its work with the conviction that God's Word clearly teaches the duty and imposes the responsibility of the care of the sick and afflicted. We have diligently studied the question from every point of view that has occurred to us, or been suggested by others. We learned what Baptists and others had done and are doing in this work. We entered into correspondence with all the Baptist sanitaria and hospitals in the South, and some elsewhere. We learned much concerning the establishment, conduct and plan of finance of denominational hospitals and sanitaria in other States. Then we studied conditions in South Carolina, both with respect to the churches' ability and readiness, and the adequacy of present hospital facilities of the State. We diligently sought information, both through the press and by private correspondence, endeavoring to learn the attitude of the brotherhood and to secure a full expression from them. We addressed hundreds of letters to preachers and laymen in every part of the State; and the complete file of correspondence and data is at the disposal of the Convention.

The results of our studies bring us to these conclusions:

The Scriptures unmistakably teach it to be our duty to care for the sick and afflicted. The personal ministry of our Saviour was largely devoted to healing disordered bodies; the mission of the disciples whom He sent out during His life upon the earth was both to preach the Gospel and heal the sick; the early churches recognized it as a duty and a privilege to minister to the needs of the poor and suffering.



CALLOWAY KIRKSEY HENDERSON, AIKEN, S. C.
Trustee of Furman University 1889 to 1912

Throughout Christian history there has been more or less systematic effort by the churches to care for the sick and suffering. The very spirit and genius of Christianity accords with this conception of duty.

Foreign Mission Boards of practically all denominations understand it is a duty of the churches to care for the sick. They have established hospitals, and have found them to be not only of immense benefit to suffering humanity, but a valuable means of reaching the unsaved and bringing them to Christ.

Baptist and Protestant denominations in the United States have many hospitals and sanitaria. They are to be found all over New England, in the Central West and Pacific coast States, and many of the Southern States.

A great source of power of a mighty hierarchy is found in its triumphant trinity of schools, orphanages and hospitals. We have schools and orphanages, but no hospital. Who would abandon the schools and colleges under Baptist control, or abolish Connie Maxwell Orphanage? Not only do we render service of incalculable value to individuals and of great worth to the State in mantaining these institutions, but thereby we fulfill a part of our mission as churches of Christ. Nevertheless, as a denomination, we profit most by them; they are sinews of strength; they are fruitful sources of splendid supply.

But in hospital work we would have opportunity to serve at once both humanity and the churches. The poor would not only have the Gospel preached to them, but would also find a powerful denomination representing Christ standing ready to minister to their bodily needs in time of distressing want. Who amongst us does not at this moment call to mind cases of protracted or dreadful sickness in families who were utterably unable to procure adequate medical attention or surgical skill or trained nursing; where lives were forfeited because no great, strong, helping hand was stretched out to minister in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ? Again, how many churches have been willing to send a poor sufferer off for treatment, but the cost has been prohibitive.

However, we are able to serve the churches in a better way than merely by providing at actual cost medical attention for their poor sick folk. We will have a place to train consecrated young women for worthy and helpful ministrations. The demand is urgent for a vital Christianity able to meet the ever-multiplying demands of urban life. The churches, too, have come to know that woman is no mere figure-head in religious activity. The call for Christian women who are trained for service is heard on every hand. Scores and hundreds of noble, earnest young women are longing to offer their lives to their Master in active service who are not called on to go to the foreign field.

But the churches offer no opportunity for training save for mission work. Have we not here a golden opportunity for furnishing a means of preparation for young women whose call is to serve at home? We can at this moment name churches in this State seeking such women.

Letters have come to us from all over the State favoring the establishment of a sanitarium, or hospital. The expressed opposition is practically nil. A few brethren mildly express conditional disapproval; and only one or two actual opposition. Judging from the letters we have received, we would say fully 95 per cent. of the Baptist brotherhood desires the Convention to enter this field of endeavor. Every Association to which the matter was presented unanimously endorsed the proposition, so far as we are informed. We are informed that the recent meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union adopted resolutions favoring it.

The vital question before us, however, is how to proceed? Of course, we should understand at the outset that in establishing such an institution we are building for a period in perpetuity. We should do nothing little. Baptists constitute more than half the Christians in South Carolina. Upon us rests more than half the responsibility for Christian work in the State. Whatever we do should be done with full consciousness of our dignity and place as a denomination.

We are advised by physicians and hospital experts not to begin with too large a plant. But, by all means, let us plan for a great plant in the future. Whether it shall be determined to begin with a small plant or a more pretentions one, however, should be left to a competent committee to be selected by the Convention.

We are informed that several towns and cities in the State desire and expect to offer adequate sites and sums of money sufficient to build and equip an initial plant. There need be no immediate call upon the churches for money. But the churches seem to be ready to respond to a call, should one be made.

May not the history of our Orphanage be repeated in this hospital work? Connie Maxwell has not found it necessary to make general appeals for money for buildings. Gifts and legacies have come with remarkable and blessed frequency. The care of orphans is a Christian labor that appeals to benevolent hearts.

Hospital work is likewise a form of Christian philanthropy that will appeal to many who have been blessed with this world's goods. This has been the experience of hospitals and sanitaria in other States. Large gifts and legacies for buildings, equipment and endowment have come to them from many sources. May we not reasonably expect to receive such recognition from those whose heart the Lord has opened? We believe so; indeed we are informed that even now there are those who are ready to contribute large sums to a sanitarium upon certain conditions.

How the sanitarium is to be run is a question that must be left, in all of its details, to those who will be charged with the duty and burden of its management, and to that wisdom which time and experience alone can call forth. But we do not believe it is wise to contemplate simply a charitable institution. Of course, the work of charity should have a large place in it; but as far as possible, a sanitarium should be made to bear its own expenses. Those Baptist sanitaria which are located in other Southern States from which we have heard are self-sustaining. We do not contemplate an institution simply for the poor; but for all who need its skill and ministries. The rich and the well-to-do get sick and are broken and bruised, as well as the poor and destitute. Of our Saviour it was said, "And he healed them all."

We believe there is little weight in the objection that the proposed cause would injure other causes. People who believe in foreign missions contribute to foreign missions. People who believe in the orphanage contribute to the orphanage. There will be found those who, believing in the work of a Baptist hospital, will give their money for its support. Friends are found for each worthy cause, but perhaps few persons are equally interested in all worthy causes. So there will be found in our broad ranks many who will love this kind of work to such a degree as to contribute to it, and the money that will come will in most cases be money that would never have found its way into any other department of the Lord's work. The money that comes into the treasury of the orphanage annually is not money that would have found its way into the Foreign Mission Board's treasury had the Orphanage never been established. Every worker in our several denominational enterprises who has replied to our inquiries concurs in this view.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. That the work be undertaken;

2. That a committee of seven be appointed to take it in hand;

3. That this committee be authorized and are hereby authorized to take such legal steps as may be necessary to become incorporated, to the end that it may accept, purchase, hold and manage property to be employed as a hospital;

4. That the successors of the members of this committee shall be elected in the annual meetings of this Convention, at its will.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT ON REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SANITARIUM

Your committee appointed to consider the report of the Committee on Sanitarium would respectfully report that they have considered the same, and recommend that the report be adopted, when so amended as to read as follows:

1. That the work be undertaken; provided sufficient funds be donated to procure an adequate site in a convenient location and such building or buildings as may be necessary to operate a modern sanitarium free of any costs to this Convention.

2. That this matter be placed in the hands of a committee of twelve, to be appointed at this Convention.

3. That, subject to the conditions herein stated, this committee be authorized, and it is hereby empowered, to take such legal steps as may be necessary to become incorporated, to the end that it may accept, purchase, hold and manage property to be employed as a hospital or sanitarium.

4. That the successors of the members of this committee shall be elected or appointed at the annual meetings of this Convention, at its will.

Respectfully submitted,

J. J. Lawton,

REPORT OF LAYMEN'S COMMITTEE

Your committee entrusted with this important work are glad to report a number of very encouraging missionary conditions among South Carolina Baptists.

1. More of our people than ever before are informing themselves about missions.

2. An increasing number of pastors and churches are deploring the lack of system in the missionary work of the churches and are seeking the best methods for themselves and recommending them to sister churches.

3. In the contributions of our people we note a marked increase. During the past nineteen months South Carolina Baptists have given a total of nearly $170,000 for the State, Home and Foreign Missions. This is an average of nearly $9,000 a month. Even if our work has helped to secure a small percentage of this large amount, it has shown the wisdom and profit of our laymen's work. The most notable increase during the past year was in Foreign Missions. In 1911 we gave $2,500 less for Foreign Missions than in 1910; this year we made an $8,500 advance over last year. The percentage of increase in Home Missions was nearly as great.

4. The spirit of co-operation is manifesting rapid growth in a number of Associations. The effort to reach the associational apportionment, along with the church apportionment, promises much for the advancement of the Kingdom.

Our Secretary has done a marvelous amount of effective work. He has during the past nineteen months attended thirty-one meetings of Associations. His messages have been given a cordial welcome. Several of the Associations already have good working committees. He has responded to requests to speak at some ninety churches, heartily co-operated with the Secretaries of our State, Home and Foreign Boards, and has reecived expressions of hearty appreciation from each. He has conducted a wide correspondence, distributed thousands and thousands of missionary leaflets, aided in the publication of four special missionary editions and one educational edition of The Baptist Courier, and has assisted in several associational missionary campaigns.

Realizing that a number of our churches are seeking a more definite and more adequate missionary standard, we suggest the following as embodying the highest motives, the best methods and the simplest organization—all of which are in the spirit of Christian loyalty to the Scriptures:

1. Our churches need "motives instead of enticements," and in the missionary endeavor only the highest motives are adequate, viz: a love for Christ which makes obedience a joy and a love for our "neighbor" which makes sacrifice imperative.

2. The example of Jesus, the work of the disciples He trained and the record of the New Testament churches all point to prayer as the primal missionary prerequisite. Matt. 6:10; Matt. 9:37-38.

3. The pastor should be recognized and honored as the Church's God-appointed human missionary leader; the Holy Spirit accepted and honored as the Divine leader.

4. The Church's standard should include systematic missionary education in the principles and work of missions (Local, State, Home and Foreign) to begin at conversion and to include every member. Matt. 28:19-20.

5. The Sunday School superintendents and teachers should teach the missionary commands and lead the school in obedience to them.

6. The every-member canvass is recommended at the first of the church year to secure the weekly pledge for missions. Prov. 3:9-10; Malachi 3:10-12. (The "yearly budget" plan is strongly recommended by the Convention.)

7. The missionary money should be dedicated to God as an act of worship and paid joyfully to the missionary treasurer weekly or monthly. I. Cor. 16:2; II. Cor. 9:7. (Duplex envelopes strongly recommended. Send to Duplex Envelope Company, Richmond, Va., for free samples and prices.)

8. The standard should include co-operation with the churches of the Association and the Convention (State and Southern) in the apportionment plan—the church approving or modifying the amounts asked as early in the church year as possible and making the apportionment the minimum.

9. A missionary committee (or committees) should be appointed by the church at the first conference after the Association to assist the pastor and the church in reaching the above standard.

10. Your committee would record its deepest sympathy with the Men's Baptist Missionary Convention to be held in Chattanooga on February 4, 5, 6, 1913. Systematic and strenuous effort is being made to secure a large attendance of represenative men from all sections of our Convention. Let all the forces of South Carolina unite to send a large representation of pastors and laymen to this great meeting for prayer, counsel and inspiration.

We recommend for the coming year:

1. That our State Committee again consist of five members, appointed by the President of the Convention, and that these be empowered to add ten other members, selected from the chairmen of the Associational Committees.

2. That the missionary standard be given wide circulation and that pastors, associational committees and church missionary committees be urged to join us in this effort to bring our missionary practices into harmony with our Baptist principles.

3. That the Secretary devote as much time as possible to the educational and personal enlistment features of the work.

4. That the laymen in our strongest and best developed churches be not satisfied when the missionary standard is attained in their own churches, but that they share their better methods with the weaker and less developed churches.

5. That our laymen herald the need of more intensive church life; that wherever possible they assist one-Sunday-a month churches to secure more regular services, and that they urge our churches to pay their pastors better salaries.

REPORT ON OBITUARIES

In the providence of God, the first break in our ranks during this Convention year was caused by the death, in far-away China, of our much beloved and highly esteemed missionary, Rev. J. B. Hartwell, on January 3rd, 1912.

On October 17, 1835, and in answer to the prayers of the father that he might have a son who should become a missionary, there was born an only son to Rev. Jesse Hartwell, then pastor at Darlington, S. C. When the name of the child was being discussed, Luther Rice, who was just then sojourning with the family, remarked, "Name him Burmah." The association of ideas thus suggested led to the choice of the name Boardman, and the child was called Jesse Boardman Hartwell. A year later the family moved to Alabama and located, in 1843, at Marion, where, in 1850, the boy Jesse was baptized by Dr. J. H. DeVotie. He was educated in part at Marion, but in 1853 entered Furman University, where he graduated with distinction in 1855 in the first class that went out from that institution, and from which he later received the degree of D. D. While there a student he was received, in May, 1853, by letter into the now First Church of Greenville, where his membership remained to the time of his death. For a year or so after graduation he was a professor in Mt. Lebanon University, Louisiana. His missionary career of more than fifty-four years' duration was begun with his appointment, on February 1, 1858, as a missionary to China. He was ordained to that work on May 2, 1858, at the First Church while in attendance as a delegate, perhaps the youngest, to the Baptist Educational Convention that bore fruit in the organization of the Baptist Theological Seminary.

In November he sailed for China, arriving there in March, 1859, and settled later at Tung Chow, in the Shantung province, in which section he mostly labored.

It is said that the first Sunday he was in Tung Chow he preached the first sermon ever preached there, and God blessed it to the conversion of one of his hearers, who was baptized and became a most efficient co-laborer. Dr. Hartwell baptized the first man in Shantung province; he organized the first Protestant church in China north of Shanghai, and it is of interest to note that perhaps the first foreign contribution ever made to missionary work came in 1869 to the Southern Baptist Convention from his North Street Church at Tung Chow.

Dr. Hartwell's labors during his first sixteen years in China, from 1859 to 1875, were varied, unceasing and exacting. He had a vision to give Christ to China and to bring China to Christ. This vision caused his heart to burn within him and animated his whole life. He went to and fro with his work, and with this one purpose firing his soul he became, as it were, all things to the Chinese, so as to win them to his Lord. In the great Tai Ping rebellion, during the sixties, he spent himself in service for the people. At one time for nearly six weeks he had on his premises one hundred refugees, to whom he acted as surgeon, nurse and preacher; dangers beset him and his; more than once he was forced to put himself under the protection of the United States Consul, and on one occasion he and his family were forced to flee on horseback to save their lives. But his zeal languished not, although the severe labors and exposure to which he was subjected brought on a long and seirous illness, from the effects of which he perhaps never fully recovered.

In 1875 he was forced, on account of his wife's health, to return to America. His expectation was to return to China at an early date, but he was detained here for eighteen years. He labored for a while as agent for the Foreign Mission Board, but in 1879 was appointed by the Home Board to labor among the Chinese in California. In this work he was engaged for the next fourteen years, and to him belongs the honor of establishing the first Chinese church in America.

But though in his native land in the body, his heart was in China. Now as at all times his yearning cry was, "Let me go back to China." So we find him again returning to China in 1893, where he labored until his death, except for a visit to America in 1909. He was at the time of his death the President of the Bush Theological Seminary at Hwanghein, China.

As already intimated, his health had been for a long time feeble, but he said that the Lord had revealed to him that he would live until 1912, and, as in confirmation of this, he passed into glory at the very threshold of the New Year in Chefoo, China. His was a life which from beginning to end was closely associated with God and was used for His glory. Christian sympathy everywhere goes out to the children he leaves. A Prince in Israel has passed away; a mighty man indeed has fallen, but the works shall go on until the kingdoms of this world shall have become the kingdoms of our Lord and of His Christ, and He shall reign forever and ever.

Rev. J. H. Stone, one of the oldest preachers of the Beaverdam Association, passed away January 21st, 1912, at his home near Seneca. Brother Stone had served many of the churches of the Association during his long ministry, and his common sense, fidelity and consecration made him one of its most influential men. He had been, at different times, Moderator of the Association. He enjoyed fully the confidence and esteem of all the men, and his absence from us is keenly felt in all associational gatherings.

Rev. J. P. Bolen passed away on May 8th, 1912, having lived a quiet life on his farm at Springfield. This brother for some years was not in the active ministry. He was quite advanced in years at the time of his death, and doubtless had reached his seventy-fifth birthday. He was born and reared in Orangeburg County.

Rev. J. H. Sanford died in September, 1912. He was born and reared in Orangeburg County. Possessing a kind, loving disposition, he loved his brethren, he loved his work, and was a faithful, untiring pastor, ever having a full pastorate. His educational advantages were limited, having attended only county schools in his own county—Orangeburg. He attended the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary for a short while. He gave himself to earnest and persistent effort and study, and did a great work for the Master.

Rev. William Boyd Faliaw was born September 10th, 1864, and died August 4th, 1912. He was reared on a farm in Lexington County and was trained in the county schools and Leesville College; then attended Furman University one year. From Furman he went to his native county and served there faithfully and well until his death. He was Moderator of the Lexington Association at the time of his death, and was earnestly engaged in forwarding the interest of the Kingdom.

Rev. Edwin W. Peeples, of Varnville, fell to sleep October 20th, in the sixty-seventh year of his life. Brother Peeples was one of the oldest, ablest and most highly honored preachers of the Savannah River Association. He was highly educated and a splendid orator. Doors of great opportunity opened wide before him from time to time in different parts of the State, but he chose always to labor near his home and served churches for many years in the Savannah River and Colleton Associations, being pastor of Varnville and three country churches at the time of his death. Many friends and loved ones mourn his departure, but they are comforted with the thought that he has entered into well earned rest in the Father's house.

DEACONS.

James T. Morehead, deacon of El-Bethel Church, was born June 29th, 1839, died January 16, 1912. A leader in his church and community in Christian character.

Deacon William McBride Chisholm, of Brunson, passed away on February 15th, at the age of sixty-six years, having filled his office well for several years in the church at Brunson.

J. S. Griffin died March 23rd. He was deacon of the First Baptist Church of Walterboro.

Deacon James Seaborn passed away July 2nd, at the age of eighty-two years. A tower of strength in his church at Walhalla and a felt power in the Beaverdam Association, of which body he was for many years Treasurer.

Columbus Spencer, senior deacon of Corinth Church, died July 20th, in his sixty-second year.

John Culp McFadden, of Chester, died July 27th, at the age of seventy-one years. He was also a teacher of the Bible class in the First Baptist Church. His life was spent in service for his country, church, family, and his fellow men.

On July 25th Deacon Thomas Bishop, of the Poe Mill Church, departed this life. He was a faithful worker for the Master.

Deacon Henry M. Ulmer, of Brunson Church, died October 19th, at the age of about sixty-five years. He was a pillar of his church, ever ready for its service.

Deacon C. P. Bramlett, of the Mush Creek Church, died October 2nd. A good man and faithful officer of the church.

Alfred Taylor, a senior deacon of the Taylor's Church, died on October 25th, in his ninetieth year. He was a great Sunday School worker—teacher for about sixty years and a superintendent for much of his time.

Deacon W. D. O'Shields, of the Gowansville Church, North Greenville Association, fell on sleep November 13th, 1912, at a ripe old age.

He was a consecrated member of Gowansville for fifty years, during nearly all of which time he acted as church clerk. He was a school teacher for thirty-five years, and his high ideals of Christian manhood were instilled into hundreds of young men and boys in upper Greenville and Spartanburg counties. He measured up to the opportunity for service that God gave him.

Deacon Charles T. Watkins, of the First Church of Greenville, died September 9th, 1912, in the seventy-fifth year of his age. A native of Powhatan County, Virginia, his early years were spent in Virginia. After faithful service as a soldier of the Confederacy, he engaged in business in Virginia for a series of years, with Richmond as his headquarters. He gave himself to the Saviour in early life, and in 1893 was received by letter from the Pine Street Church, Richmond, into the membership of the First Church of Greenville, and in October of that year was elected a deacon thereof. In the discharge of his duties in the varied relations of life he showed himself an humble, sincere "soldier of Christ." As church member and officer, he endeared himself to all Christians, to his fellow members and to his brother deacons, as a faithful and devout servant of the Lord, an active spirit in the Master's vineyard and a kind, tender-hearted, sympathetic friend. He has entered into his reward, leaving to his wife and children and to his church the legacy of a Christian life well and usefully lived.

Deacon Robert E. Kirby, of Riverside Baptist Church, Columbia, passed away November 22, 1912, age 34. He was instrumental in the organization of Riverside Church, and for four years rendered valuable assistance as an untiring and faithful worker in a Sunday School, out of which the organization grew. He lived to see a building erected which was almost completed at the time of his death. The building stands as a monument to his memory.

In addition to these, the following have died, concerning whom satisfactory data has not been furnished:

Rev. G. W. Kelly, January 29th, 1912.

Rev. J. B. Hunnicutt, at Salem, Oconee County, about eighty years of age.

Rev. J. M. Allen died at his home in Greenville County in September at a ripe old age, having served churches in Greenville and Anderson counties.

Rev. S. T. Russell, of Bloomingvale, having served many years in Williamsburg and Georgetown counties, died August 2nd.

We would also mention the death of Brother P. D. Gilreath, January 28th, a layman of Greenville First Church, to whose liberality in large measure is due the building of Gilreath College, in Brother Cannada's field in Brazil.

Also Brother T. Q. Donaldson, well known and esteemed throughout the county, who will be graciously remembered especially through his gift of $2,000 to the Science Department of Greenville Female College. He died May 3rd, 1912.

MISS ELIZA Y. HYDE.

The Convention did well to place the name of Sister Hyde on the sacred roll of our dead. She was a rare spirit, and gave it in consecration to her Master's service. She was the first lady missionary our State Board ever employed, and to the full of her strength and to the end of her days she fulfilled her mission. For many years hers was a familiar and cherished figure in Charleston, as she went about doing good. For a long time she lead the Sunbeams in their work in South Carolina, and these in turn are honoring themselves as they seek to honor her memory by the erection of a chapel in Charleston to bear her name. Of her it can be truly said:

She rests from her labors, and her works do follow her.

These all died in the faith, having run well their course, and their works follow them.

CONSTITUTION

We, the representatives of the constituent body of the State Convention of the Baptist denomination in South Carolina, do agree upon the following articles as forming the Constitution of the Convention, and as the basis of the union:

ARTICLE I.

This body shall be styled the State Convention of the Baptist denomination in South Carolina.

ARTICLE II.

The comprehensive purpose of the Convention shall be: The union of the Baptists throughout the State in efforts to advance the kingdom of Christ in the world.

The Convention will claim no right to lord it over God's heritage, believing that the right of government, under Christ, is vested in the churches themselves.

ARTICLE III.

Special objects fostered by the Convention, as tending to accomplish its comprehensive purpose, shall be: The Preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of the State; the work of Colportage, including distribution of God's Word and approved Christian literature; the interests of Home Missions, Foreign Missions, Sunday School and Temperance; the work of Christian Education; the maintenance of an Orphanage; and the care of Aged Ministers and the families of deceased ministers.

ARTICLE IV.

The preaching of the Gospel in destitute portions of our State and the work of Colportage shall be known as State Missions, and shall be entrusted to an Executive Board, consisting of a President, a Vice-President, a Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer. and an Auditor, who shall be Auditor of the Convention, and sixteen other members. This Board shall be elected in four sets of five members, each to serve for terms of one, two, three, and four years, respectively, and their successors shall be elected annually as their terms of office expire; and the President of the Convention shall be ex-officio a member of the Board. Seven members of the Board shall constitute a quorum. The Corresponding Secretary shall be the executive officer of the Board. The Board shall act under general direction of the Convention, and shall make an annual report to the Convention. The Treasurer shall make an annual report of receipts and disbursements.

Besides the special objects entrusted to the Board, it shall also have authority to represent the Convention in all matters requiring attention while the Convention is not in session.

ARTICLE V.

Among special objects of the Convention, the support of Institutions of Learning in this State shall be considered as primary. The government of these Institutions shall be committed to a Board of Trustees, who shall be appointed by the Convention in accordance with the character of the Institution.

ARTICLE VI.

In addition to the Boards provided for in Articles IV. and V., there shall be: A Board of Ministerial Education, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds to help needy and worthy young men while preparing for the ministry; a Board of Aged Ministers' Relief, to be appointed annually by the Convention, whose duty it shall be to gather funds for the assistance of Aged Ministers and the families of deceased ministers; and a Board of Trustees of Connie Maxwell Orphanage, to whom the entire management of the Orphanage shall be committed, subject to directions from the Convention, and one-third of whose number shall be appointed each year by the Convention.

ARTICLE VII.

This Convention shall consist of delegates from the Baptist Associations in this State, who may approve the measures here adopted, and from other religious bodies of the Baptist denomination concerned in the promotion of the same objects with the Convention. Each Association shall be entitled to two delegates at large, and also to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed since the last session of the Convention to State Missions; and any Baptist Church, Sunday School, Missionary or Education Society, or individual, shall be entitled to one delegate for each twenty-five dollars contributed as aforesaid, for the purpose named; provided that every such delegate shall be a white member of some Baptist church in the State. The delegates shall be chosen annually, and satisfactory evidence of their appointment shall, on demand, be exhibited to the Convention.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Convention shall have a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary and Assistant Secretary, Statistical Secretary, a Treasurer, and an Auditor. The duties severally assigned to the officers of similar organizations shall devolve on those of this body; and they shall hold their office for one year, or until their successors are appointed, unless forfeited by unrighteous conduct.

ARTICLE IX.

This Convention will receive contributions, legacies and bequests for the several objects which it has in charge.

All moneys specially appropriated shall be sacredly applied to the objects designated; but when any contribution or bequests are made without any special designation, discretion in their application shall be exercised by the Convention or Executive Board.

ARTICLE X.

The Convention shall have annual meetings; but in cases of important concern, the President may, at the instance of the Executive Board, call a special meeting.

ARTICLE XI.

Any alteration which experience may suggest can be made in these Articles by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present at an annual meeting.

RULES FOR THE TRANSACTION OF BUSINESS

1. After prayer on the first day, the names of delegates shall be enrolled, officers shall be elected and, when the body is organized, applications for membership from new bodies be decided on, and, if admitted, their attending delegates shall be received by the right hand of fellowship.

2. The meeting of the Convention shall be opened and closed each day of its session with prayer by the President, or by some person whom he shall request to perform the service.

3. The Minutes shall be read at suitable intervals, to the end that mistakes, if any shall have been made, may be corrected.

4. The welcome service shall be limited to one address and response, each limited to fifteen minutes.

5. The following Stated Committee shall be appointed by the President early in each session, to report during the session, viz: A Committee of five on Preaching During the Session.

6. The following Standing Committees shall be appointed by the President at his convenience during each session, to report at the next session, viz:

(1) A Committee of five on Foreign Missions.
(2) A Committee of five on Home Missions.
(3) A Committee of five on Woman's Missions.
(4) A Committee of five on Temperance.

(5) A Committee of five on Order of Business.
(6) A Committee of five on Evangelism.
(7) A Committee of five on Apportionment.
(8) A Committee of five on Religious Literature.
(9) A Committee of three on Publicity.
(10) A Committee of five on Time, Place and Preacher for Next Convention.
(11) A Committee of five on Devotional Services of Next Convention.
(12) A Committee on Obituaries, consisting of one member from each Association, with the addition of a chairman, to gather during the year facts concerning deceased ministers and such others as have been distinctly active and useful in the work of the Convention, and to prepare suitable notices of them to be reported at the ensuing session of the Convention.

7. Kerfoot's Parliamentary Law shall be Standard for the conduct of the business of the Convention.

8. No collection shall be taken in the Convention without a motion.

9. Any of the foregoing rules may be suspended at any meeting of the Convention by a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

BAPTIST MINISTERS' CONFERENCE

The Conference convened in the Baptist Church of Abbeville Monday evening, December 2, 1912. By appointment, Dr. H. L. Jones, of Charleston, S. C., preached the Annual Sermon on "The Point of View in Preaching." Retiring President W. J. Langston called the Conference to order, and Dr. Rufus Ford was elected President and B. F. Allen was elected Secretary. Conference adjourned to meet at 9:15 Tuesday morning.

TUESDAY MORNING.

After devotional service conducted by G. W. Bussey, W. T. Tate submitted the report for the Program Committee

The following papers were read and generally discussed by members of the Conference:

"Review of H. C. Vedder's Book, 'Socialism and the Ethics of Jesus,'" by A. C. Wilkins.

"Ministers' Civil Rights and Duties," by E. S. Reaves.

"The World-Wide Unrest and World-Wide Mission of the Church," by J. A. Brunson.

"The Final Authority of Religious Truth," by W. M. Jones.

Motions were made and carried requesting these several papers published in The Baptist Courier and what secular papers as would take them.

President appointed W. C. Allen, J. D. Huggins and J. N. Tolar to prepare program for next year.

Motion to discontinue Ministers' Conference lost.

Motion to change time of meeting from Monday evening to Thursday evening lost.

Conference adjourned.

B. F. Allen,
Secretary.

R. Ford,
President.
